ASSEMBLY JAM IS BROKEN

Local Write-in Decision May Come Tomorrow

Big Question Is: Who Is GOP Nominee for Mayor?

The Westmoreland County commissioners will try tomorrow to determine the winners of a confused write-in contest for the Republican nominations for mayor and other city offices in Monessen.

Chairman Robert A. Kilgore said the board will meet at 10 a. m. to consider a report from the official count board.

This will include a tabulation of write-in votes in the mayoralty contest between Mayor Hugo J. Parente and John R. Stieska.

The outcome will depend on whether or not various versions of Parente's and Stieska's names are counted in addition to the correct spellings.

Kilgore said the official count shows that Parente received 70 votes on the Republican ticket in which his name was properly spelled. Stieska received 58.

But if all the versions of both names are accumulated, Stieska would be the winner by a margin of something like 170 to 150.

Stieska May File

A clerk in the commissioners' office said it is necessary for a candidate to petition the court to accumulate the write-in votes and include all versions of his name.

Stieska told The Daily Independent he had been informed that today was the last day such a petition could be filed. He said he was attempting to file one although he has not yet made up his mind whether to campaign actively if he is declared the Republican nominee.

Parente is anxiously watching the Republican count, hoping to avoid another contest in the general election. He defeated Stieska in the Democratic primary by nearly 1,400 votes.

Somewhat the same situation prevails in the contest for council-manic nominations. On the basis of unofficial counts, including all versions of all names, the GOP winners would be Stephen Sincak and William Snyder, who were defeated in the Democratic primary contest.

Official Count

The commissioners' office today released the official count of the Democratic votes for Monessen offices. It includes military ballots cast by mail, but there are only minor changes from the unofficial returns.

Kilgore stressed that the commissioners have not yet formally certified any election results to

Rescue Workers Continue Search For Mine Victim

SHAMOKIN, Pa. (UP)—Volunteer rescuers continued their round the clock efforts today to reach a 19-year-old fellow miner trapped Tuesday morning in a shale fall 100 feet below the surface of an independent mine operation near here.

The volunteers, led by the victim's father, have all but given up hope for Frank Pufnock, who is buried under 50 tons of shale and rock. The father, George, is the operator of the mine.

The younger Pufnock, a former football star at the high school here, was in the mine with a fellow worker, Earl Giest, when four tons of rock and shale began to fall down on them.

Geist shouted a warning and managed to jump to safety but Pufnock was buried beneath the debris.

The rescue operations were further hampered by heavy early morning rains which sent down more rock and rubble into the hole. Rescuers said they do not expect to reach the trapped youth until late tonight or possibly early Thursday morning.

Option on Home Rule Bill Is Before Senate

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Senate today considered minor House amendments to bipartisan legislation giving Pennsylvania's 47 third class cities an option of three types of home rule.

The House passed the Senate bill Tuesday, 201-2 with an amendment to require 15 per cent instead of 10 per cent of the electorate needed to petition for a study of a new local form of government.

The legislation would allow the cities to choose between a city council form of government, Mayor-council or council-city manager. The bill spelled out procedures for adopting the forms of home rule and detailed how each would operate the city.

The bill was sponsored by Sens. George B. Stevenson (R-Clinton), Frank Kopriver Jr. (R-Allegheny), William J. Lane (D-Washington) and John T. Van Sant (R-Lehigh).

Two Monessen Girls Accused Of Sneak Theft

Two Monessen girls — one nine and another five — are eating meals "standing up" today, according to City police.

The youngsters were picked up after Mrs. Ralph Pascaralla, of 250 Donner Ave., reported that her purse, containing $11.60, was stolen while she was at work in a city laundromat.

Mrs. Pascaralla told police the two girls were watching her work.

The youngsters were apprehended a short time later. They had already spent $3.60, police said. Their parents promised to make restitution and to apply some discipline as well.

Man Killed in Fall From Train

The body of a 58 year old man who was killed Monday when he apparently attempted to "hop" a freight train near Connellsville has been removed to Brownsville for burial.

Authorities said Felix Visnesky died from internal injuries. His body was found between the east and west bound B. & O. tracks near Greenwood Junction.

Investigation revealed that the victim has surviving relatives in Grindstone.

Jimmy Dorsey, Bandleader, Dies at Age 53

NEW YORK (UP)—Bandleader Jimmy Dorsey, 53, died today at Doctors Hospital five months after he underwent surgery for removal of a growth from his lung.

Dorsey's brother and long-time associate, trombonist Tommy Dorsey, died last Nov. 26 at his home in Greenwich, Conn.

Jimmy Dorsey entered the hospital last January for surgery and was able to return briefly to his conducting chore at a midtown hotel in February. He returned to the hospital March 13 and has been confined ever since.

Dorsey, famed as a clarinetist, began his career on another instrument—the cornet—in his father's brass band when he was in his teens. Jimmy and Tommy organized their first combination in 1920 and had an off-again on-again partnership as band leaders until Tommy's death.

The "fabulous Dorseys" were the sons of Thomas Francis and Theresa Dorsey. Jimmy, christened James Francis Dorsey, was born in 1904 in Shenandoah, Pa., where his father was a music teacher. Tommy was born in 1905.

Surviving besides the widow, the former Jane Porter, whom he married in 1927, is a daughter, Julie Lou.

Merchants Meeting

A breakfast meeting of the Merchants Group of the Monessen Chamber of Commerce will be held tomorrow at 8 a. m. at Johnson's Restaurant, Norman Henderson, chairman, announced today.

Ike Hears Reasons For Economy from GOP Congressmen

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower played host to 40 Republican congressmen at a harmony breakfast today and heard the politically indigestible forecast that some House members might be "hung" if they support certain parts of his program.

The Chief Executive, smiling and looking fit after his painful weekend stomach upset, entertained at a buffet breakfast in the White House state dining room.

The early morning "kaffee klatch" was the first in a series of five harmony get-together planned for GOP House members. Two are planned for Republican senators.

They are part of an effort to bring about closer relations between Eisenhower and Republican lawmakers to head off more trouble for his legislative program in Congress.

Most of today's breakfast guests, chosen in alphabetical order, said the accent was social rather than business.

Dire Prediction

Rep. Clarence J. Brown said he told the President his home state of Ohio is "against the school aid bill." "I also said that in Ohio if we voted for that school bill, we would all be hung," Brown said.

The President, he said, merely laughed.

Brown also reported that "a lot" of the breakfast guests told the President how and why they were supporting cuts in his budget.

If such sentiments depressed Eisenhower, he did not show it when he posed for pictures with the congressmen afterward on the step of the north portico.

As for his recent illness, the President said, "Really, I had a miserable day Monday—god, was I miserable."

The President planned two more official appointments in the morning, but skipped his usual Wednesday news conference to avoid making it too heavy a day.

His doctors were not ready to call his recovery "complete." They expected it to be a day or two

Candidate for Governor Files Suit in Assault

ERIE, Pa. (UP) — Charles J. Schmitt, an Erie truck driver who sought the nomination for governor in the 1954 Democratic primaries, has filed assault and battery charges against his boss on a state Highways Department project.

Schmitt said he was slugged by Cassius Liocano in a "planned, unprovoked attack that will have statewide political repercussions."

Formal charges were filed before Alderman William Heisler.

Liocano, foreman at the construction project in Edinboro, Erie County, denied the charges at an arraignment and was released on $300 bond pending a hearing next Friday.

According to witnesses, the flare-up occurred when Schmitt refused to carry out the orders of Liocano, his foreman.

Employment Office To Close Friday

The Charleroi office of the Bureau of Employment Security, Pennsylvania State Employment Service will be closed Friday, Flag Day, Robert Steiner, manager, announced today.

Claimants regularly scheduled for Friday will report as instructed on their last previous visit to the office, he said.

Boy Breaks Wrist In Bicycle Mishap

A 14 year old Monessen boy suffered a fractured right wrist last night around 9 o'clock when the coaster chain on his bicycle let loose as he was riding down Grand Blvd.

Kenneth Kohut, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Kohut, of 123 Sutherland Ave., was taken to Charleroi-Monessen Hospital where his condition today was described as good.

GOOD AS NEW — President Eisenhower looks good as new, back at his White House desk after the bout with his innards.

McDonald for Study of Wage, Price Effects

WASHINGTON (UP)—Dave McDonald, head of the United Steelworkers Union, has proposed that President Eisenhower appoint a labor-management committee to advise him on what effects wage and price hikes have on inflation.

McDonald said he had discussed the proposal with White House officials and that they were "very interested." He said he hopes to lay his proposal before the President soon.

McDonald suggested that the proposed committee be made up of representatives of companies and unions with major collective bargaining contracts.

For example, he said, the committee could include himself and the head of one major steel company; United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther and the head of a major auto company; United Mine Workers President John L. Lewis and the head of a major coal company; the head of a major railroad and a major rail union, and the head of a major wood products company and M. A. Hutcheson, president of the Carpenters Union.

Two Men Held As Suspects in Hub Cap Thefts

Two district men were in City Jail today following their arrest on a charge of larceny in connection with stolen hub caps.

Arrested were John Harber, 18, of 243 East Main St., Monongahela, and Coleman Tomasik, 26, of 459 Liberty Ave., Donora.

They were picked up this morning by Monongahela police and turned over to Monessen authorities.

An unidentified person informed police that two men had apparently burglarized an East Donner Ave. garage early yesterday morning, supplying the license number of the getaway car.

Police said the license was traced to Harber. They found six hub caps, including two which belonged to a Monessen garage.

Police Lt. James Horan said the case is still being investigated in an effort to determine how the alleged stolen material is being disposed.

Jury Rebuked For Acquittal

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Visiting Judge C. William Kreisher of Columbia County sternly rebuked an Allegheny County jury which acquitted a man for drunk driving after deliberating 90 minutes.

"In my county a jury with the evidence submitted here would have been out only five minutes and returned with a guilty verdict," the judge declared Tuesday.

Kreisher ordered the defendant, Edward B. Yates, 35, to pay costs of more than $100.

Yates was arrested in October, 1955, following an accident in Pittsburgh. He was pronounced under the influence of liquor, but his defense attorneys argued Yates had but one drink.

250 Furloughed At Donora Plant

Approximately 250 employes have been furloughed at the Donora plant of U. S. Steel Corp.'s American Steel & Wire Division officials announced yesterday.

Lack of orders was given as the reason for the layoffs.

The general curtailment affects all departments, it was said.

Firemen in Meeting

The Western Pennsylvania Firemen's Association will meet Saturday at 8 p. m. at Sandy Lake, located north of Mercer on Route 78.

Frank Brewster Trial Scheduled To Open Today

WASHINGTON (UP) — Frank W. Brewster, West Coast boss of the Teamsters Union, was scheduled to go on trial today in District Court for contempt of Congress.

The Senate last February unanimously cited Brewster and three other Teamster officials for contempt in refusing to answer questions before the permanent investigating subcommittee.

His trial was delayed this morning in the court of Judge Boiltha Laws.

The Teamster vice president based his refusal to testify on the ground that a committee set up to investigate government operations had no authority to look into labor affairs.

Also cited were Einar O. Mohn, Teamster vice president and executive assistant to President Dave Beck; Nugent Lapoma, secretary-treasurer of Local 174, Seattle, and Harry Reiss, secretary-treasurer of Local 284, New York.

Partly as a result of their refusal to testify, the select committee to investigate labor-management racketeering was set up with broader power.

Lions Club in Annual Broom Sale for Blind

The Monessen Lions Club will stage its annual "broom and blind-made products" sale on Friday and Saturday, according to chairman Michael Komar.

Any profit realized from the sale will be used locally to aid the blind in their sight conservation program.

For years the Lions Club has been active in this project. Last year, 85 per cent of the sale of blind-made products was handled through the Lions.

Serving as co-chairman of the Monessen sale will be Steve Wisyanski and Nick Puleo. The captains will include Ross Aiello, Phil Columbus, Al Godia, Mike Harlon, Ben Massa, Angelo Loubis, Dan Salotti, Joe Shoemaker and Tony Supaks.

Amended Money Bills Approved; Recess Speeded

HARRISBURG (UP) — The $1,111,043,000 General Appropriations Bill headed for a Senate-House conference committee today in the sudden breakup of a log jam on money bills that bolstered hopes of Republican leaders for final adjournment of the Legislature next week.

The Senate, in the climax of a debate-filled marathon session, approved the core of the GOP's fiscal program to run the state government in the next two years at a 2:15 a.m. edt rollcall.

The vote was 27-20 along party lines on the 103-page bill that reflects a cut of about 89 million dollars in Gov. George M. Leader's budget requests. The Democrats will make a last-ditch stand in conference committee to restore some of the slashes, particularly in Welfare Department funds.

The Senate Republican majority held firm to block a long list of amendments offered by the Democrats, who had all of their attending members on the floor at one time or another. Their seven hours of presentations were broken only by GOP defense of the cuts for various departments and agencies.

The Senate clock was turned back several times before midnight, the first such maneuver of the current Legislature, to prevent the session going into another legislative day.

Lift Vote Blockade

Earlier in the day House Democrats lifted their blockade of more than 93 million dollars in funds for state-aided institutions in the so-called "non-preferred" category and supplied support on the bills that required a two-thirds vote. They imposed the strategy a week ago but relented when assured the big money bill in the Senate for General Fund purposes would go to conference.

However, Republican leaders indicated the Democrats will not make too much headway in their fight to get new money added to the budget.

The GOP opened the door for restoration of only about 12 million dollars of the cuts, including two million dollars to the Philadelphia General Hospital for mental health purposes, and $1,500,000 for slum clearance.

The Senate debate was led by Minority Leader John H. Dent (D-Westmoreland) who charged the budget cuts were sparked by Republican State Chairman George

Revised Open Meeting Bill Back in Senate

HARRISBURG (UP)—Legislation to require local government bodies and certain state agencies, including the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission, to hold meetings open to the public was back in the Senate today for concurrence in amendments.

The House unanimously passed the Senate bill Tuesday, 204-0, with amendments which specified that only those state government agencies which "perform an essential governmental function" would be affected. The original bill had included all state boards, commissions and agencies.

The revised bill also would not affect meetings which would disclose the facts of the institution, progress or result of an investigation.

The bill would require advance notice of meetings and levy a $10 to $25 fine for board members who met in violation of the provision. The legislation is part of a two part series to eliminate secrecy in government. A companion bill calling for open records in most local and state government offices also is before the Senate.

The twin legislation is backed by the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association, the Pennsylvania Society of Newspaper Editors and the United Press Editors of Pennsylvania.

Ex-Solicitor Convicted of Tax Failure

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Joseph A. Cirillo, assistant Allegheny County solicitor for the past 11 years, was convicted Tuesday of failing to file federal income tax returns on time for 1953 and 1954.

Federal Judge Joseph P. Willson imposed a 90-day jail term and a $1,000 fine.

A jury of nine women and three men deliberated less than 30 minutes to return the guilty verdict.

"This is probably the most disagreeable task I've had to perform on the bench—to sentence a lawyer," Judge Willson said as he passed sentence. "Your explanation is not only incomprehensible but unacceptable. I just can't sit here as a judge and pass sentence on anybody else unless I sentence you and do justice to the law."

Attorneys for the county official had argued Cirillo was guilty of only gross negligence.

Prosecution witnesses testified Cirillo had failed to file returns from 1945 through 1954 but the statute of limitations restricted the charges to the last two years.

Two Arrested For Lottery

Two Monessen men were arrested today on charges of operating and maintaining a lottery.

Picked up were Andrew Curry Mason, 65, of 1032 Morgan Ave., at his place of business at 1168 Schoonmaker Ave., and:

Braxton Loyd, 54, of 1044 Morgan Ave., at his place of business at 1208 Schoonmaker Ave.

The arrests were made by Monessen Police Lt. James Horan and Patrolman Leroy Bailey at about 9:30 a. m.

Police said no hearing date had been set as yet.

Catholics Are Warned Against Giving to the Salvation Army

Salvation Army officials today declined to comment on a warning by a Monessen Roman Catholic priest that "Catholics are strictly forbidden under pain of sin to participate actively in Salvation Army campaigns."

Capt. John Connors, in charge of the Monessen citadel of the Salvation Army, said he had "absolutely no comment" on the statement which appeared in a recent bulletin of the Holy Name R. C. Church.

Harry C. Gribben, a businessman who is chairman of the Salvation Army's current $25,000 fund-raising drive, said he was "surprised" by the Holy Name statement.

The warning to Catholics was made by the Rev. Joseph Gajdosik, pastor at Holy Name. He wrote in his weekly bulletin:

"Some Catholics seem to be under the impression that the Salvation Army is a civic organization or a humane society! It is a religious sect and as such Catholics are strictly forbidden under pain to participate actively in Salvation Army campaigns."

"There is such a campaign on now, and for that reason we remind Catholics of their sacred obligations. Support your own religion and let the Salvation Army members support their own."

The priest also had this to say about the Monessen Community Fund:

"One big reason why the Community Chest never reaches its quota is because the Community Chest discriminates and votes the giant part of the funds, collected for the common good of our community, to a religious sect, for sectarian use and even for proselytizing."

The Salvation Army allocation from the 1957 Community Fund amounted to $7,987.68. It was one of 13 charities and non-profit groups to share in the $27,037.24 distributed.

In commenting on Father Gajdosik's statement, Gribben pointed out that he personally served the Salvation Army "as a charitable, rather than religious organization."

"As a Methodist, I am interested in the Salvation Army because of its charitable work," Gribben said. "As far as I know, the Salvation Army has never discriminated in its charity because of religious affiliation."

Gribben also said that "several

Stirone Says Money From Business Deal

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Labor leader Nick Stirone returns to the stand in federal court today to back up his attorney's claims an alleged $31,000 extortion payment was actually money due for a legitimate business deal.

William M. Casey, counsel for the construction worker boss, set the stage for the defensive move Tuesday in his opening remarks to the jury.

"Our defense is based on the fact that this was a legitimate business deal open and above board and with no extortion involved," the attorney said.

William G. Rider, a Pittsburgh building supplier, has testified he was forced to pay tribute to Stirone at the rate of 50 cents for every cubic yard of ready-mixed concrete moved to a Pittsburgh Steel Co. construction site. The $31,274 payment Rider said forced him into bankruptcy.

Answered Casey in his address to the jurors:

"Another arm of this government allowed Rider the payments as a tax deduction for a legitimate business transaction."

Stirone faces up to 20 years in prison and a $10,000 fine if convicted of extortion in violation of the Hobbs Anti-Racketeering Act of 1951.

Casey told the court Stirone was influential in securing for Rider the contract to supply ready-mixed cement to Raznar Benson, Inc., primary contractors on the steel company construction job.

The attorney identified Robert Diecker, president of Duquesne Slag Products, as the intermediary in negotiations.

Rider said earlier it was Diecker who arranged the meeting in 1951 at which Stirone made his demands. Stirone, Rider testified, guaranteed labor peace for the 50 cent a cubic yard payment.

Council Hears Panepinto Case

Monessen City Council was meeting in an extended session this afternoon to hear charges against a City patrolman who was recently given a 10-day suspension without pay.

Patrolman Phillip Panepinto was suspended for sleeping on duty and failure to make hourly reports on Thursday, May 23.

At the time Panepinto said he was "feeling ill" and had fallen asleep in a car after taking an aspirin.

The regular Council meetings rarely extend into the afternoon hours.

'Pike Official Facing Cross Examination

HARRISBURG (UP) — A top fiscal officer of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission was to return to the witness stand today for cross examination by attorneys for nine men charged with defrauding the commission.

Comptroller Franklin V. Summers testified late Tuesday that a contract between the commission and the Manu-Mine Research and Development Corp., Reading, was designated a "construction" contract shortly after it had been negotiated, without competitive bidding, as an "engineering" contract.

The contract executed Feb. 28, 1955, was for the filling of abandoned coal mines beneath the roadway of the Northeastern Extension. It forms the basis for charges of conspiracy against former commission chairman Thomas J. Evans, Coaldale, suspended commissioner James F. Torrance, Export, three other former top commission officers, and engineers.

Make Two Payments

Also indicted on the same charge are Charles W. Stickler Jr. and Clayton A. Landsidle, president and vice president, respectively, of Manu-Mine.

Summers said his office made two payments to the firm in May and June, 1955, when he was informed by former Finance Director Paul J. McNeill, one of the defendants, that the agreement was to be treated as a "construction" contract.

He said payments could be made to firms under terms of "construction" contracts without the prior formal approval of the commission. Engineering contracts require that the commission members vote approval of all payments, he said.

Summers said all of the payments to the firm for the mine-filling work were made from the commission's construction fund.

The prosecution charges that the contract was awarded to Manu-Mine without required legal bidding, bond provisions to insure performance, and without the prior approval of the state Highways Department.

The defense contends that the contract was for "engineering" work, thus exempt from the provisions.

But Eisenhower made substantial progress Tuesday. Increasing quantities of solid bland food were introduced into his diet. He spent nearly two hours at his desk working on mail and official papers.

In addition to breakfasting the 40 House Republicans, first in a series of five House GOP delegations invited to the White House, Eisenhower also planned a farewell conference with Philip Young, former head of the Civil Service Commission, who leaves shortly to take up his post as the new U.S. ambassador to The Netherlands.

Security Meeting Scheduled

Eisenhower also planned to devote a brief part of his morning in the office to chat with 20 members of his valet's church congregation. The valet, John Moaney, a retired Army sergeant who has been with the President for years, is a member of the Copperville, Md. African Methodist Episcopal Church.

The Chief Executive scheduled a meeting Thursday morning with the National Security Council, ruling out a Thursday press conference. Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said he did not know whether the President might meet reporters Friday.

He said many of the slashes were made "to suit a political plan rather than to fill the required needs."

The debate began at 2:38 p.m. Tuesday when Democrats tried to restore all 27 million dollars of Welfare Department cuts in a discussion that took more than two hours, and to get back the 10 million dollars chopped from the Public Instruction Department.

Denies Preference Charges

Majority Leader Rowland B. Mahany (R - Crawford) denied charges that when some funds were restored earlier to mental hospitals the institutions in Republican districts received preferential treatment.

He said the bill would go into conference committee when "we will consider all the facts and no doubt come up with an adequate bill to meet objections."

Mahany told the Democrats that any amendments presented, although subsequently voted down in the Senate, would be given "full consideration" by the conference committee.

Sen. Harry E. Sever (D-York) took one hour analyzing Public Instruction Department needs and arguing that some services, such as school transportation and county superintendents' offices would have to be curtailed.

But all the Democratic senators participated in floor debate after Dent introduced amendments to restore the entire bill to the administration's budget figures.

At one point Mahany contended the speeches were prepared by department heads and criticized them for not stating what was done with funds allocated in the previous fiscal period.

"Let us operate the state of Pennsylvania like we operate our own private business," he said. We should have at least one report from these people on what they have done with previous money before we allocate them more."

State Legislatures not Concerned With Economy, Survey Reports

CHICAGO (UP) — The trim-the-budget fever that has boosted political temperatures in Washington this spring has not proved contagious in state legislatures across the nation.

A United Press survey showed today that costs of state government are increasing at a faster clip than those of the federal government and that budget-cutting drives similar to the attack on President Eisenhower's budget occurred in only three states.

Budgets presented to 1957 legislatures are up 10 to 20 per cent over last year. And the survey showed that the average state budget has increased by 97 per cent over the pre-Korean War year of 1949.

The 1957 federal budget of 71.-800,000,000, on the other hand, represents an 81 per cent increase over the $39,500,000,000 expenditures of 1949.

Economizers have done a lot of talking in the states but only in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Massachusetts have governors and legislatures squared off in budget fights as turbulent as the money differences between Eisenhower and the Congress.

All-Time Highs

Most state budgets reached all-time highs. The nation's biggest this year is in California where Gov. Goodwin J. Knight asked for almost $2 billion. New York State's budget is $1,600,000,000 but that includes only a portion of the $1,900,000,000 of New York City.

The 1957 Illinoi sbudget is $1.-100,000,000, those of Pennsylvania and Michigan around $1 billion. In contrast, Montana's government cost will be less than $36 million and North Dakota expects to get by on about $46 million.

The U.P. survey shows that increases over the 1949 budgets run from only 32 per cent in the state of Washington to 166 per cent in Ohio and Maryland.

Schools, highways and public welfare take the lion's share in that order. Ballooning public school enrollments have forced governors to request sharply increased funds for more teachers and higher salaries and to build new schools.

Steadily mounting population and inflation are the twin major causes of bigger budgets, but the states also have extended their services into many more fields.

To meet rising costs many state legislatures have voted new taxes. Rhode Island voted a penny increase in its sales tax and Utah extended its sales tax to cover beer, cigarettes and oleomargarine. Indiana, Oklahoma, South Dakota and Utah boosted gasoline taxes.

Indiana and Idaho raised state income taxes. Michigan and Nebraska boosted cigarette taxes. Michigan and Texas raised tuition at state colleges and Michigan upped its liquor tax. Iowa lowered its sales tax and states that rejected tax increases included Arizona, California, Connecticut, Illinois, Minnesota, Nevada, Ohio and Tennessee.

Catholics

al" Roman Catholics serve on the 23-member governing board of the Monessen citadel.

"This board is set up for the maintenance of Salvation Army properties and has nothing to do with the religious side," Gribben said.

Father Gajdosik contacted by The Daily Independent today, said his statement was intended for his own parishoners. However, he said he had merely restated the traditional Catholic position.

"This campaign is for money to pay off the debt on the Salvation Army place of worship in Monessen," he said. "Catholics can not contribute to such a campaign."

Father Gajdosik said that if the drive were for "strictly charitable purposes" Catholics would be encouraged to help, "just as they assist with the Elks, Kiwanis, Lions and other civic organizations."

As for Catholics serving on the Salvation Army board, Father Gajdosik said they may do so "passively" if they are picked because of their political offices or because of their affiliation with unions or similar groups.

"However" the priest added "Catholics are not permitted to actively promote Salvation Army under any circumstances."

"As for purely charitable drives, Catholics may certainly take part," Father Gajdosik said.

State Revenue Collections Up

HARRISBURG (UP) — The state Budget Bureau said today revenue collections for the Commonwealth's two-year fiscal period that ended last May 31 topped original estimates by $20,955,000.

Budget Secretary Andrew M. Bradley said the net increase resulted from 20 sources of revenue which exceeded estimates by $33,618,000 and 20 sources which were $12,663,000 under estimates.

The major taxes exceeding estimates included the corporate net income tax and the capital stock tax.

The state's 3 per cent sales tax returned $4,650,557 under estimates, for a total of $198,349,442.

Second Day for Walkout

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP) — A wildcat strike shut down production for the second day at the Youngwood plant of Westinghouse Electric Corp. today in protest against a new timekeeping policy.

John B. DeFloria, president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Local 1983, said his local members walked off the job Tuesday when some workers were required to keep "certain records of personal and natural activities."

DeFloria, reached at Westmoreland Hospital where he is scheduled to undergo minor surgery, said the company policy was clearly inconsistent with existing contracts. But the stoppage, he said, was unauthorized.

The local official termed the walkout a "spontaneous demonstration." A spokesman for Westinghouse called the strike "illegal."

The company said no formal grievance has been submitted through channels as established in the contract with the IBEW. The contract runs until 1960.

The walkout, union officials explained, had no connection with the one-day suspension handed workers at the Westinghouse transformer plant in Sharon, Pa. About 5,000 Sharon workers drew the penalty when they attended a meeting of the International Union of Electrical Workers on company time Monday.

OBITUARY

MRS. MARY GRACE COLELLI

Mrs. Mary Grace Colelli, 78, of 401 Main St., Belle Vernon, died at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Ben (Leona) Lavigna, Jeannette, yesterday at 5:45 p.m.

Born in Italy, Sept. 15, 1877, she had been a resident of Belle Vernon for 54 years. She was a member of the St. Sebastian R. C. Church.

Surviving besides her daughter are her husband, Antonio; four sons, Amerigo Colelli, and Ernest Colelli both of Belle Vernon, Albert Colelli, at home, and John Clement, with the U. S. Air Force in Chicago; a sister, Mrs. Josephine Frontaglio, of Donora and one sister and one brother in Italy. Fourteen grandchildren and five great-grandchildren also survive.

Friends will be received at the Shelby D. Ferguson Funeral Home, Broad Ave., Belle Vernon, after 7 o'clock this evening. Funeral home visiting hours are from 1 to 3 and from 7 to 10 p.m.

Named as Marshal

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate today confirmed the nomination of John F. Barr as U.S. marshal in Northern West Virginia.

U.S. Accuses Reds of 'Subversive' Meddling In Troubled Mideast

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States today accused the Soviet Union of waging a campaign of "subversive intervention" in the troubled Middle East.

This government, in a note delivered to the Soviet ministry of foreign affairs in Moscow, also rejected "as unnecessary" an earlier Soviet proposal for a big-four declaration against using force in the Middle East.

The Soviet proposal was made by Moscow in notes to the United States, Britain and France and dated April 19.

Diplomats said Britain and France also have delivered new notes in Moscow on the Middle East. These Big Three notes were said to be "parallel although not identical."

The U.S. note took sharp issue with a Soviet assertion that its concern about Middle East conditions stemmed from the close proximity of the area to Soviet territory.

"It may be generally observed that it is just those countries lying closest to the Soviet Union which have been most vigorously attacked in the recent Soviet campaign of threat and intimidation aimed at the legitimate efforts for self defense undertaken by the nations in question," the note said.

"Public attacks upon governments of these states, together with subversive intervention in their domestic affairs, give them good cause to seek the strengthening of their security..."

The United States challenged Moscow to work through the United Nations if it "sincerely desires to contribute toward the establishment of peace and security in the Middle East..." The note added that Moscow could work with other nations through the United Nations to attack solution "of fundamental problems in the area, among which the Arab-Israeli dispute is outstanding."

Moscow's April 19 note, and preceding ones, followed congressional approval of the Eisenhower Doctrine which promised U.S. military and economic aid to maintain independence of Middle East countries — if they so desired. The doctrine has been under attack from Moscow.

The United States did not spell out details of Soviet subversion and other actions in the Middle East.

The U.S. note recalled that Moscow had proposed a Big Four declaration against use of force in settling Middle Eastern disputes.

Elks' Recreational Purchase Okayed

43 Acres Sold by Railway

The board of directors of the Pittsburgh & West Virginia Railway Co. has approved the sale of 43 acres of railway property to Monessen Elks Lodge 773, R. Lee Jones, lodge exalted ruler, made public today.

The rail officials' action led to the final completion of negotiations begun last October and will eventually lead to the development of a recreational area for Elks and their families.

Lodge officials listed the sale price as $21,700.

The property is located in Rostraver Twp., adjacent to the Monessen City line near State St., and will be accessible from both State St. and Grand Blvd.

The property will be used as a picnic area this summer, and the Elks' future plans call for the area to include such recreational facilities as a swimming pool, tennis courts, softball field, tenboard courts and possibly a fishing site.

Clubhouse Plans

Also included in the future plans is a clubhouse as well as permanent facilities for club and family picnics with individual areas for private outings.

While the purchase of the property was in the discussion stage, the Elks Development Committee began making plans for the future. The group is headed by Jones and John McShane, past exalted ruler.

Mayor Hugo J. Parente and Col. William J. Huston are co-chairmen of the advisory board which includes Donald Duvall, Edwin Dawson, John Abernethy and Boyd Krebs.

Francis R. Kasper is divisional chairman of the development committee comprised of planning, building and legal sub-committees headed by John Kotch, Jr., Henry Dragan and Peter Demas.

O. F. Pannabaker, finance division chairman, is assisted by Everett Pancook, Robert McKelvie and George Pierotti. Anthony Strauss heads public relations aided by Joseph Gouger, James Destefano and Larry Doyle.

An operating committee, made up of Kasper, John Kotch, Gerald Vitale, Steve Major and Dragan, is now making preparations for construction of a roadway to the picnic grounds. The group hopes to have the roadway and sufficient picnic facilities ready for the annual Elks family picnic on Sunday, July 28.

Council in Move To Annex Land

Monessen City Council today instructed its legal department to begin proceedings to annex 43 acres of land off St. Mary's Road, (Rostraver Twp.) which was recently purchased by Elks Lodge No. 773.

The Elks requested Council to take such action.

Allen Kyllonen Is Graduate of Tech

Allen W. Kyllonen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew E. Kyllonen, of 440 Clarendon Ave., was granted a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering yesterday at Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Kyllonen was graduated from Monessen High School in 1944 and was a part time student at George Washington University for two years. He attended Tech also as a part time student. He has accepted a position at Westinghouse Air Brake Co. in Wilmerding.

Billy Graham Ends Month of N. Y. Crusade

NEW YORK (UP) — Billy Graham ended the first month of his New York crusade Tuesday night before a Madison Square Garden audience that swelled total attendance at his sermons over the half million mark.

A near-capacity audience of 17,500 brought total attendance for the past 28 days to 501,000. Graham's call for "decisions for Christ" was heeded by 686 persons, bring the total of "decisions" to 16,929

The committee running the crusade had planned originally to end it June 30, but present plans call for a grand finale July 21 in Yankee Stadium. Graham has hinted the crusade would be extended even beyond July 21.

The evangelist confessed frankly in his sermon that when preachers at one time told him he could be saved by accepting Jesus Christ as his savior "I thought they were off their rockers."

"Nuts!" Graham shouted dramatically. "That's what I must have thought and that must be what a lot of people say to those who think they can be saved by coming to Jesus Christ

"I know to some of you it sounds foolish, crazy, like sheer nonsense...but it happened to me and to hundreds of other people here."

Meyner to Get Princeton Honor

PRINCETON, N.J. (UP)—Gov. Robert B. Meyner will become an honorary member of the Princeton University Class of 1922 this weekend because he married a relative of two Princeton grads.

The Class of '22 elected the New Jersey governor to honorary status because of his marriage to the former Helen Dav Stevenson, daughter of Oberlin (Ohio) College President William E. Stevenson, and a cousin of unsuccessful Democratic presidential candidate Adlai E. Stevenson, both 1922 graduates.

Meyner is an alumnus of Lafayette College, Class of 1930

Blast Furnace at J&L Is Operating

ALIQUIPPA, Pa. (UP)—Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. blew in its No. 2 blast furnace at the Aliquippa Works today after a shutdown of more than three months.

The furnace was taken out of production March 3 for relining and enlarging from a hearth diameter of 21½ feet to 28½ feet.

Wage Boost Ends Plumbers Strike

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A 35-cents an hour wage increase has ended an eight-day strike by Plumbers Union Local 27 against Pittsburgh contractors. The walkout delayed plumbing on a number of multi-million dollar construction projects in the Pittsburgh area.

The increase, which will be submitted to local membership for ratification Saturday, increases the basic hourly rate for plumbers to $3.77½.

Suffers Attack While Driving

PITTSBURGH (UP) — A Pittsburgh man died at the wheel of his automobile Tuesday—one day after his doctor said it was all right for him to drive.

Robert Bertel, 41, suffered a heart attack while driving on Brownsville Rd. in nearby Whitehall. His car crashed head-on into a vehicle operated by Mrs. Delia T. Zupancic, Broughton.

Two other persons suffered minor injuries in the accident.

Parking Authority Arrangements Explained at 'Visitors Night'

Last night was "visitors night" at the Monessen Parking Authority meeting.

It marked the first time that persons other than members of the Authority, City officials and press representatives had attended a meeting of the body.

Present were John Harhai, who last month won the Democratic nomination to City Council over incumbent David Victoria; his campaign manager, Murino DeAngelis, who has been an outspoken critic of the Authority's decision to erect the downtown parking plaza, and Faleo Colonna, who said he was just interested in civic affairs.

Both Harhai and DeAngelis were given an opportunity to ask questions.

Harhai stated he was just attending for the purpose of looking at the Authority's financial statement.

Harold B. Cramer, Authority chairman, told Harhai the financial report was in the process of being compiled by its recently-hired accountant, M. A. Milinovich.

Can Inspect Report

"When the report is compiled, you or any other interested citizen will be given every opportunity to inspect it," Cramer said.

DeAngelis, a school principal, who has openly criticized the Authority, had several questions.

He wanted to know what the present overhead for the operation of the downtown plazas amounted to. Cramer said the only bills that have to be paid monthly are for electric service and for maintenance.

"We don't begin paying on the interest and principal of the $340,000 project until May, 1958," Cramer said.

DeAngelis then asked why the Authority hadn't given the plot of land, now owned by the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad, which extends from Second St. to Fourth St. on Donner, more consideration when looking for sites for parking plazas

Joseph Shoemaker, Authority secretary, answered this by pointing out some of the problems which arose during negotiations with the P&LE for the purchase of such a site.

"To buy the P&LE site," Shoemaker said, "we would have had to pay P&LE some $500,000 and relocated their present freight station in another section of town."

Agreement Explained

"This," Andrew Kritsky, another Authority member, said, "would have cost us almost a million dollars."

DeAngelis then wanted to know about the financing arrangement for the structure.

Frank Ezerski, Authority solicitor, explained the plazas are operated by the Authority acting as agent for the City. A lease-back arrangement whereby the City is responsible for all deficits and expenditures incurred by the Authority in the operation of the plazas was explained.

"The Authority has only a 500 revolving fund out of which is paid operating expenses," Ezerski pointed out.

Cramer pointed out that it has been the experience of similar plazas in other cities in Western Pennsylvania that it takes about two years for such structures to be put on a solid financial basis.

"We have all the confidence in the world that in two years this structure will also be on a sound financial basis," Cramer added.

A financial report for May showed receipts of $655.31, which included $535.31 in cash meter receipts and 2,400 tokens at 5 cents each, which were deposited as part of a Chamber of Commerce "Park 'n' Shop" program.

22 Stalls Rented

No report was given on income which is being received from 42 stalls available for rental for $10 per month in the two middle levels of the downtown plaza.

Cramer pointed out it is his understanding that at present 22 stalls are rented and that a financial report on this arrangement is being worked out with George E. Cieply, Chamber manager, and City Treasurer John Spielman.

In formal action the Authority withheld payment on the lights to Hale Electric Co. until some minor adjustments are made on the types of switches which Authority members claim are in the specifications.

The Authority released payment to Westmoreland Paving Co. for work at the plaza at the corner of Third St. and Schoonmaker Ave.

The next meeting, which is open to the public, will be held Tuesday, July 9.

Local Student Gets Doctorate At Pitt Today

Red Mother Leaves Four Sons in Chicago

NEW YORK (UP)—A Russian mother wept for several minutes on a station platform today at the mention of her four young sons, abandoned to Chicago charity so that she and her husband may return to Russia. Then she shook the tears from her eyes and answered an emphatic "no!" when asked if she would rather stay here with them.

She is expecting another child The youngest boy, nine months old, was taken from his mother's arms by court order just before the couple boarded a train at Chicago Tuesday.

Mrs. Nabejda Kozmin, 35, and her husband, George, 54, came to the United States as displaced persons in 1950 with the three older boys, now 10, 8 and 7.

"We not have nice job," Mrs. Kozmin told newsmen after regaining her composure. "Nobody has help us. They have a job and a place for us there"—in Russia.

Neither she nor her husband spoke English easily despite their seven years in this country. Feodor Slomatin, chief of the Russian Embassy's consular division, who saw them off in Chicago Tuesday and met them here today, was called on frequently to interpret for them.

Slomatin said they will leave New York by plane today or Thursday for Russia.

Still Sensitive

IT'S OBVIOUS that the country is still quite sensitive on the subject of President Eisenhower's health. Probably most people are not as sensitive as those timid souls in Wall Street who dump gilt-edged securities at the President's slightest indisposition. But the public is conscious nevertheless that Mr. Eisenhower's health is a factor in his conduct of the presidency.

But of course, the people knew this when they reelected him. It was, in fact, probably the principal issue of the election even though it was not debated publicly as fully as the H-bomb tests and the draft. And the voters overwhelmingly decided to keep Mr. Eisenhower in office despite his frank statement to them that his past illnesses would require him to conserve his strength.

This is why the continued sniping at the President because of his golf and his frequent short absences from his desk seems to us to be out of order. For Mr. Eisenhower has a perfectly clear arrangement with the American people about this whole mater.

So while we can't help being more concerned when this President has a stomach ache than we were when it happened to some of his predecessors, we ought to try to avoid going off the deep end about it. For a while Mr. Eisenhower is a very precious man in these times, we should remember that the American form of government is quite a durable one. And if something should happen to remove Mr. Eisenhower from office, the country would continue to function. That has been demonstrated more than once.

The Girard Case

THE FURORE being whipped over the case of Sergeant Girard, the American soldier who killed a Japanese woman on a firing range, is having the unfortunate effect of making the Sergeant something of a public hero in the eyes of many people.

To read some of the statements which are being made — often in haste — by the leaders of veterans organizations and to hear of the emotional petitions going to Washington, one might get the idea that Sergeant Girard had performed some noble act.

He did not, of course. At worst he is guilty of a wanton murder. And at best he is guilty of a terrible indiscretion. Almost surely he deserves punishment but, under no circumstances, adulation.

What is involved in the Girard case is a legal technicality. Admittedly the technicality is important, but it is still a technicality.

The responsible officials of the U. S. Government, including President Eisenhower, have decided that the Sergeant's offense is one that, under the treaty with Japan, belongs in the Japanese civil courts rather than in a court-martial of the U. S. Army.

We see no reason to question this decision. And certainly there is no reason to question the President's expressed intent that Sergeant Girard shall have a fair trial. All the precedents suggest that he will.

Those who are making this affair a kind of patriotic cause celebre with Girard in the role of hero are distorting the whole business.

The 'Fifth' Again

ANOTHER set of prominent labor leaders is taking refuge in the Fifth Amendment during a congressional hearing into alleged corruption.

This time they are officers of the Carpenters Union, including the veteran president, Maurice A. Hutcheson, and two others. A Senate Public Works subcommittee has evidence linking them with big profits in an Indiana highway scandal.

So the executive council of the AFL-CIO is once again faced with a test of the policy applied in the case of Dave Beck, president of the Teamsters. This holds that any union official who takes the Fifth Amendment on a matter involving corruption is not fit to hold union office. Ironically, Mr. Hutcheson is a member of the council and cast one of the votes which ousted Mr. Beck.

Unlike the Teamsters' case, this one does not appear to involve misuse of Carpenters Union funds. The information which the committee produced is that Mr. Hutcheson and his associates used their union positions and influence to cut themselves in on a corrupt deal involving highway rights of way.

As in the Beck case, the truth of these charges is going to have to be proven in a court of law before the Carpenters' officials are guilty of anything. But the AFL-CIO policy still strikes us as the only one possible in a clean labor movement.

Merry-Go-Round—

FPC Head Entertained By Lobbyists

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — A lot of people have forgotten why commissions were established in Washington. They were established to act as impartial judges between business and the public; to protect the public against unreasonable rates by big business, false advertising, and monopoly by business.

Mr. Pearson

They were not set up to promote the profits of business, but to protect the pocketbooks of consumers.

Today many commissioners seem to believe their job is just the reverse. They seem to think that commissioners were appointed to promote profits of a dozen big companies, not protect the pocketbooks of 160,000,000 people.

Take, for instance the case of Jerome Kuykendall, chairman of the Federal Power Commission, who is charged with protecting the public from paying too high rates for electric power and natural gas.

This week he's up for a hearing on whether he should be confirmed by the Senate for another term. Eisenhower has reappointed him. The natural gas lobby and the big electric power companies are strong for him. And most senators are either too blase, too lazy, or too afraid of the big power companies to vote against him.

However, here is the way Chairman Kuykendall, supposedly neutral chairman of the Federal Power Commission, has been protecting the profits of big corporations, not the pocketbooks of little consumers.

Cocktails and Free Trips

1. He made a grand tour of the Southwest, expenses paid by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association. This is unprecendented. Members of the Federal Power Commission never take trips at the expense of any utility. Consumers aren't organized to take them on trips to counter-balance this, and shouldn't, even if they could afford it. Commissioners are supposed to keep aloof from both sides.

Accompanying Chairman Kuykendall on this trip were Seaborn Digby, another Eisenhower-appointed commissioner, and Nelson Lee Smith, a Republican holdover. Commissioner Dale Doty, a Democratic appointee, and Claude Draper, a GOP commissioner of the old school, declined to go.

FPC Commissioner Willard Gatchell had ear trouble and couldn't fly. So the gas company hosts took the trouble and expense of supplying him with special auto transportation.

2. Chairman Kuykendall attended a cocktail party given in his honor by Mr. and Mrs. Stanley M. Morley, of the law firm of Wheat, May & Shannon, which represents the West Coast Transmission Co., then applying for a certificate from the FPC.

3. He attended two dinners given by Ed Falck, astute lobbyist for Niagara Mohawk Power, Consolidated Edison, Delaware Power and Light, and a dozen others.

4. He went out to Chicago to attend the National Association of Railroad and Utility Executives dinner. The government paid his expenses. In the past, FPC commissioners kept strictly aloof from these partisan meetings. Using the taxpayers' money to attend was unheard of.

Deceiving Congress

5. Kuykendall waited two days after Congress adjourned in 1955 to announce a decision to turn much-sought Hell's Canyon over to the Idaho Power Co. Some senators, including Kefauver of Tennessee, claim Kuykendall deliberately deceived Congress when he implied shortly before Congress adjourned that no action had been taken on Hell's Canyon. They say it had been taken earlier, but held until after Congress adjourned.

6. Senators also claim that Kuykendall lied when he told the Joint Atomic Energy Committee that Power Commission attorneys had not reviewed the Dixon-Yates contract. Later his general counsel, Willard Gatchell, let slip the fact that it had come before the Commission's attorneys. Real fact was that two FPC attorneys, Lambert McMaster and Howard Wahrenbrock had vigorously condemned the Dixon-Yates contract — probably why Kuykendall denied anyone had ever seen it.

7. Chairman Kuykendall has now admitted holding secret meetings with three natural gas lobbyists to draft a gas bill. No representative of the public was present. His job is to pass on these matters impartially between the public and the utilities after they become law not to write secret laws with lobbyists to help pass the law.

Under cross-examination Kuykendall admitted: "I went to three individuals and I admonished those individuals there should be no publicity about this. There should be absolute secrecy."

That's the record of the man who has just been reappointed to be an impartial chairman of the Federal Power Commission and who now awaits Senate confirmation this week.

From Washington—

Scared of Disarmament?

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

For several years it has been possible for American officials to talk boldly and longingly about a disarmament agreement with the Soviet Union without having to face up to the consequences.

This was possible because none expected the Soviets to agree to anything — and this proved to be the case.

Mr. Drummond

It is no longer the case. The Russians now are talking disarmament so seriously that some Americans are beginning to shiver in their boots for fear it will come about.

The outlook now is that the Soviet Union may accept any reasonable arms reduction proposals which the United States makes. This is very likely the reason Admiral Radford, retiring chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, is warning that "you can't trust the Russians on anything."

Khrushchev's Stand

In his American television interview Nikita Khrushchev took two positions which suggested the Kremlin wants at last to find a way to reach an agreement.

He said that the Soviets "are quite prepared to limit ourselves to some small step" that "might lead to something bigger." Heretofore they have talked only about an "all-or-nothing" approach which made good propaganda but nothing more.

He also said that the Soviets are "prepared to afford the means of control." Heretofore they have been long on disarmament plans but short, bordering zero, on control.

It is certainly no longer safe to talk disarmament unless we mean it.

Ike Means It

There is no doubt that President Eisenhower means it profoundly, and I should think that if a disarmament agreement can be reached which the President can certify is "safe" for the U. S. to undertake, the Congress and the country will welcome it.

What, then, are the essentials of a safe disarmament treaty? They would, I think, be these:

1—An agreement which is in the national interest of both countries to accept. We aren't going to get Moscow to accept something that benefits the U. S. more than itself — and we mustn't accept anything which aids the Soviets more than ourselves.

2 — A modest beginning — something large enough to be visible but not so great that a possible breakdown of the agreement would seriously upset the present balance of power between the Soviet Union and the West.

3 — Continuous and complete inspection and control of every step, every aspect, every item of a disarmament agreement so that each side can know whether the other is carrying out its terms. Nothing less is tolerable and it seems to me that some of the proposals emanating from London, such as depositing some non-nuclear weapons in a U. N. scrapheap, are so vague as to be uncontrollable. What inspection prevents a nation from replacing these items — or doubling them?

4 — A trial experiment of open skies inspection, possibly over the Arctic area — shortest air route between the U. S. and Russia — so that each side can know whether such inspection is adequate to justify much larger arms reductions later.

Calculated Risks

Obviously there are calculated risks in any disarmament.

There is the military risk cited by Admiral Radford, namely, our distrust of the Soviets. The answer to that is that no disarmament agreement should rest on trust; it should only rest on thorough-going inspection and control.

There is the political risk that a disarmament agreement will lull the West to sleep, entice us to lower our defenses below the agreed levels and blindly assume that the cold war is over.

I suspect we have learned enough to live with that risk and not fall into the pit. The view of the Eisenhower administration is that the risk of no disarmament will likely be greater than the risk of enforceable disarmament.

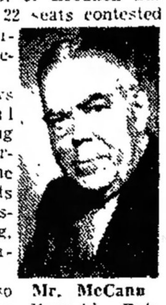
Lebanon Election New Reverse for Nasser

By CHARLES M. McCANN

Lebanon has inflicted the latest of a series of defeats on pro-Russian, anti-Western President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt.

The pro-Western, anti-Communist government of Lebanon has won 19 out of 22 seats contested in a national parliamentary election.



Mr. McCann

This follows the successful victory of King Hussein of Jordan against the leftist elements who, with Nasser's backing, plotted to overthrow him.

It follows also the meeting in Karachi, Pakistan, which greatly strengthened the anti-Communist Middle Eastern Treaty Organization — the so-called Baghdad Alliance — that Nasser bitterly opposes.

At present, Egypt and its fellow-traveler Syria are very nearly isolated in the Arab world.

Refuse To Follow

Lebanon, Iraq, Jordan and Saudi Arabia will have refused to follow Nasser. The remaining countries of the nine-nation Arab League, Yemen, the Sudan and Libya, are giving Nasser no support.

Further, the pro-Russian government of Syria is meeting increasingly strong resistance by anti-Communists in parliament.

It has long been apparent that Nasser's hope of making himself the leader of the Arab countries has been shattered.

King Saud of Saudi Arabia had a great deal to do with that. Saud's influence in the Arab world certainly is equal to Nasser's. Saud's visit to President Eisenhower last January and February marked an important turn of Arab countries toward the West.

Nasser's setbacks, of course, mean a setback also for Soviet Russia in its persistent attempt to penetrate the Middle East.

Correspondingly, they constitute a victory for the United States and especially for the Eisenhower Docurine against Communist infiltration in the Arab countries.

Pro-Nasser Platform

The opponents of pro-Western Premier Sami el Solh in the Lebanese election campaigned frankly on a pro-Nasser platform.

In the voting which took place Sunday, the pro-Nasser candidates won just two of the 22 seats at issue. The government would have won 20 instead of 19 seats had not an independent candidate taken sufficient votes in one district to defeat Solh's man.

The remaining 44 of the 66 seats in Lebanon's single-chamber parliament are to be contested in a succession of elections in other parts of the country on the next three Sundays. There is no reason to believe that the leftists can do any better than they did in the first one.

Claims Election Boards Made 'Honest' Errors

To the Editor:

May I answer your recent editorial on the "sloppiness" of our elections?

Funk & Wagnall's dictionary defines an editorial as "an article written by the editor or his subordinate, published as an official argument or expression of opinion." I agree the article is an editorial.

On consulting the dictionary, I found the following:

1 "Slop — to do or say too much." Not guilty. We didn't say anything — you said it.

2. "Waste or dirty water." Can't see where this had anything to do with our election returns.

3 "Liquid food, weak beverage. To drink or eat greedily." Meals used to be furnished election boards. Now they bring their own. So this does not apply.

'Honest Mistakes'

I am sure that all election boards who were called to Greensburg agree with one of the commissioners, who said: "These are honest mistakes made by people who are trying to do their best at a new and difficult job."

I would like to say that the election board I am privileged to serve with does not sit as three Democrats and two Republicans, but as five Americans interested in making it possible for all voters in their precinct to vote legally and fairly.

Would you consider it presumptuous to suggest that these matters merit the attention of a good newspaper editor.

1. Every party should be required to submit a complete slate of candidates. I know you thought of this first.

2. Before you venture too many opinions on the qualifications of office seekers or election boards, answer the question: "When did you last run for political office?"

3 When you write the requiem of a passing local Republican party, will you please include the following: the disgrace is not in being defeated rather in neglecting to enter the race.

4. Truly the "pen is mightier than the sword". But the thrust of the sword is quick and clean, while the mark of the pen can smear and is so hard to erase.

Our election boards have "slopped" through mud and slush and water, so that polls could be opened on time with all officials present. Thank God for people such as these. The only thanks they get is criticism. We haven't said we were perfect. Should we say we are sorry we are not?

A minority inspector,
Elizabeth J. Duvall
427 Knox Ave.

(Editor's Note—We use Webster. It defines sloppy as "slovenly, careless." And we say that it's an election board which doesn't understand its duties and fails to count or count properly the votes cast in its precinct. Election officials ask for their jobs and are paid. When they perform properly, they earn their pay. When they don't, they are subject to criticism like all other public officials.)

Most Difficult 'Hero' Described With Intensity

By UNITED PRESS

Gabriel Fielding's first novel to be published in America, "In the Time of Greenbloom" (Murrow), could very well be his best. He has chosen a most difficult type of "hero" (a pre-adolescent boy) to portray, and has brought off the feat with sureness, and vivid intensity.

Young John Blaydon is twelve when he first meets Victoria Blount. It is difficult to speak of love at that age, but a bond that includes all its elements is immediately established between the two. Their meetings are few: that first embarrassing, frightening, and beautifully understanding afternoon, a "wedding" some months later, and a country summer that ends in paralyzing tragedy. Blaydon's name appears in headlines all over England and he becomes branded as a problem child. He wanders from school to expelling school, trying to live with the vision of beauty that he had known, and that could not last.

The Woman's View—

Camping Season

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UP)—This is the time of the year the children head for the hills and the weepy parents for the handkerchiefs.

The end of school signals the beginning of the camping season, and by the July Fourth holiday, an estimated 5 million youngsters from 6 to 16 will be overrunning 14,000 camps of all sizes and descriptions, both private and public.

It will take 250,000 staff personnel to direct all this youthful energy into the proper channels.

This statistical look at the camping picture comes from Maxwell Alexander, a practicing attorney, former camp owner, and executive director of The Association of Private Camps, Inc.

Few Tears Natural

Alexander, who has been in camp work for 30 years, said it is only natural for a parent to shed a few tears when Johnny heads for camp. "But sometimes," he added, "you'd think it was a permanent parting."

Alexander believes the camping benefits parents almost as much as the children. It gives each a vacation from the other, he said. The parents have a chance to "re-evaluate," the child a chance to "develop security, to quit treating the parent as a crutch."

"Most children are happy at camp," said Alexander. "That's why parents often are startled, when on their first visit they find the child so busy with activities he has little time for them."

He conceded that some children do not "take" to camping — especially to the long two-month period with only a couple of parental visits. He suggested in such cases the parent let the child try camping by stages — stay three weeks one summer, four the next.

"Don't cram it down his throat," said Alexander.

"To the mother worried about placing her child in the hands of 'strangers' for the summer, I would say they are not strangers. They are substitute parents. Several today is recruited from the ranks of college students, teachers, and principals. And all camps are under regulation by state health and labor departments."

It's a Fact—

The queen of England has only the negative power of disapproval of acts of Parliament. She can veto a bill.

Camels do not carry extra water in the hump, but in the stomach pouches.

While Dr. Willis Carrier is credited with the invention of modern air conditioning in 1902, Leonardi da Vinci created a water-driven fan to ventilate the boudoir of his patron's wife about 1500 A. D., 400 years earlier.

Miss Mon Valley Selected Tonight

Which one will it be — which valley girl will be wearing the crown of "Miss Mon Valley" tonight when the judges make their selections from the contestants. The pageant will be staged at Twin Coaches tonight at 8 o'clock under the sponsorship of the Junior Women's Club.

Lt. Governor Roy Furman of the Commonwealth has honored the club by accepting an invitation to crown the winner and Mrs. Kenneth Bell, who won the title last year will be the official pageant hostess. Mrs. Bell went on to the Miss Pennsylvania pageant at West Chester last year to win the state talent award for her rendition of a selection from "Madame Butterfly". Tonight she will again demonstrate this talent.

Program Set

Mrs. Joseph Dudas, Jr., will be the master of ceremonies and a most unusual setting will be used for the presentation as each of the contestants takes the stage escorted by an Air Force man sent here from the Greater Pittsburgh Airport to take part.

The judges are Miss Gloria Abdou, radio personality, Mrs. Arthur J. Morley, of Tarentum, last year's pageant director; Carl Ide, of KDKA television; Earl Wheeler, who operates a modeling school and Leonard Mendlowitz, Pittsburgh drama critic.

The contestants are Frances Peroney, Carole Lou Wasicek, Alice Steinmiller, Phyllis Silvania, Carol Bernardo, Donna Bellone, Rosalie Culp, Gloria Salotti, Pat Marietta, Dena Morris and Carolyn Ghrist.

Each will be judged on personality, general appearance in an evening gown, appearance in a bathing suit and talent. The judges will allow points for each category and the contestant with the largest number of points will be the winner.

More Awards

A large collection of awards will go to the title winner along with the right to represent the Monongahela Valley in the Miss Pennsylvania contest later this month in West Chester. Along with the awards previously announced there will be an umbrella from Agnes Shoppe, gifts from Millsom's and Cramer's, a smoker from Krasik's, jewelry from LaVerne's and Vic's of Belle Vernon and from Waynes, Charleroi; three records from Dee's record shop, Charleroi; stationary from Might's, gift from S. A. Meyer's; tidbit tray from Broad Ave. Jewelers, Belle Vernon; hose from Kirk and Clark's.

While the pageant is in progress there will be no other activity at Twin Coaches and following the coronation there will be a reception for the titlist and the finalists and all of the contestants.

Later the George Shearing floor show will be presented and there will be dancing to Frankie Barr's orchestra.

The D'Annibales Are Honored On Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Santo D'Annibale, of 512 Sixth St., were honored guests at a surprise party on Saturday marking the 41st anniversary of their marriage. The dinner party was held at Peasant Village.

Those attending were the children of the couple and their families, Mary Jane D'Annibale, at home, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Loulis and son, George, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Falbo and children, Robert and Joann, Mr. and Mrs. William Mahalko and daughter, Cynthia.

A large anniversary cake centered the table and Mary Jane presented her parents with a gift in behalf of the family.

After dinner the group went to the D'Annibale home for a social time of dancing and singing and later in the evening there were refreshments served.

LOCALS

S. Sgt. Edward Sassak left yesterday for Manhatten Beach Air Force Station, New York, after spending a 24 day leave at his home with his mother, Mrs. Margaret Sassak, of Motheral Ave. He will report to McGuire. A. F. base in New Jersey to await transportation to Germany, where he will be stationed for the next 18 months. He recently attended the Air Force Manpower Management Technician Course at Scott A. F. base, Illinois.

The Ladies Auxiliary to the Eagles will meet Thursday evening in the Aerie Home, Schoonmaker Ave. The officers meeting will be at 7 o'clock and the lodge meeting at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Betty Gedeon, president, will be in charge and new members will be initiated.

Mrs. Mary Ezerski, of Linden Ave., is confined to her home suffering a foot injury sustained in a fall at home on Monday.

David Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnston, of Lincoln Ave., underwent a tonsillectomy this morning at the Gemmill Hospital.

A JUNE WEDDING — Mr. and Mrs. Louis N. Usher exchanged nuptial vows at the Mother of Sorrows Church of Charleroi on Saturday, June 1. Before her marriage Mrs. Usher was Nancy Cheti, daughter of Mrs. Anna Bartolozzi and Bruno Cheti, of Dunlevy. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Usher, of Fayette City. The couple is residing at Corning, N. Y., where Mr. Usher is employed at the Fallbrook Plant of Corning Glass Works.

Nurse Scholarship Winner Will Be Announced Friday

The winner of the three year scholarship, which is awarded annually by the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital Nurses Association will be publicly announced on Friday evening when the nurses sponsor their annual White Cap Ball to be held at Twin Coaches.

The ball is open to the public and is the highlight of the social calendar for the nurses group.

Members of the association were informed as to the winner of the nursing scholarship at the June meeting, but the public announcement will come as the "surprise" at the dance.

Named to head the auxiliary for the next year at a recent meeting were Nellie Hill, president; Mrs. Louise Tolbert, vice president; Mrs. Florence Stacey, secretary and Mrs. Lucille Kreuter, treasurer.

Mrs. Grace Yarborough, retiring president, conducted the session which was held in the hospital conference room. The treasurer gave her annual report and the auditors named were Mrs. Rose Gaggini and Mrs. Bettie Papantonakis. A resume of ways and means activities for the year was also given.

The association will suspend meetings in July and August and the next session is scheduled for September.

Luncheon was served by a committee consisting of Mrs. Rita Lee, chairman, Mrs. Pauline Petroka, Mrs. Merle Sowa, Mrs. Rose Gaggini and Mrs. Faustine Miller.

David Wilson Is Honored at Birthday Fete

Mrs. Thelma Wilson entertained a group of children at a party for her son, David, who was celebrating his tenth birthday anniversary, at City Park. It was in the form of a wiener roast.

Games were played under the direction of Miss Lee Del Wilson and Sissy Martinet.

Mrs. Wilson was assisted by Mrs. Edwina Johnston and Mrs. Jackie Lenio.

The honored guest received a number of gifts.

Mrs. Niccolini On Six Week Trip to Italy

Mrs. Victoria Niccolini, of Chestnut St., is on a six-weeks visit with relatives and friends in her native city of Arezzo, Italy, via Paris, Rome, and Florence.

Mrs. Niccolini left Monessen last week for Detroit, Mich., where she joined a group of former local folks who are also making a trip to Italy. She was driven to Detroit by her daughter, Mrs. B. J. Rizzi, in company with Mrs. Andrew Agnolucci and Mrs. Clara Pettko and son Leslie.

The visitors made the trip to Italy on a Pan-American Clipper with a stop-off at Boston.

This is Mrs. Niccolini's first visit to Italy in 45 years, and will be the scene of a reunion with her three brothers. She expects to return home the latter part of July.

Valley Picnic Held at Donora For Children

The Monongahela Valley section of Pennsylvania Association for Retarded Children held the annual picnic recently in Donora with Mrs. Joanne Stillatano, of Charleroi, as chairman.

Mrs. Stillatano was presented with a gift for the work she has done as social chairman.

Mrs. Paul Young was presented a purse for her work as chairman of the valley section, which will now suspend activity until September.

Mrs. Mary Rogowitz Feted At Annual Banquet Here

Mrs. Mary Rogowitz, immediate past president, was honored on Sunday evening when the Ladies Auxiliary to the Allison Lescanac Post 1190 Veterans of Foreign Wars held the annual Past Presidents banquet at the Post Home on Schoonmaker Ave.

Special tribute was paid to all past presidents of the group.

Vases of Spring flowers and mint filled favors representing old fashioned girls wearing large pastel colored picture hats and tied with ribbon streamers decorated the tables.

The pledge of allegiance led by Mrs. Nellie Kuseck, president and invocation by Mrs. Rose Sappo, chaplain, preceded the serving. The chicken dinner prepared by the auxiliary was served by Joseph Rogowitz, Frank Kurdilla, Frank Maolini, Socrates Loulis, Joseph Mussano and Paul Komar, of the VFW Post.

Mrs. Virginia Kurdilla acted as toastmaster and introduced Charles Hagerstrand, executive vice president of the First Federal Savings and Loan, who was guest speaker. A brief talk was given by John Hurrianko, post commander.

Presented Pin

Mrs. Elizabeth Szabo, one of the past presidents and this year's installing officer presented Mrs. Rogowitz with her pin. The honored guest responded and thanked all those who served with her. She was also presented with a gift from the auxiliary.

Mrs. Szabo then presented Mrs. Adelaide Wiita with a three year chaplain's pin.

A large anniversary cake topped with 16 candles enhanced the guest's table and indicated the number of past presidents having served the organization. Mrs. Kurdilla recited a verse and lighted a candle in tribute as each past president's name was called.

There was a moment of silent prayer for a deceased past president, Mrs. Catherine Contine. Other past presidents were Mrs. Frieda Williams, Mrs. Josephine Reabe, Mrs. Eloise Crosky, Mrs. Louella Metzer, Mrs. Jeanette Hellier, Mrs. Mary Lescanac, Mrs. Mary Putnak, Mrs. Eva Snyder, Mrs. Helen Frediana, Mrs. Szabo, Mrs. Julia Golit, Miss Mary Valko, Mrs. Twila Centential, Mrs. Betty Terensky and Mrs. Rogowitz.

Variety Show

A variety show was provided as entertainment with Sonny Winfield acting as master of ceremonies.

Several tap dance specialties were presented by Billy Essey and Gary Winfield after which Shirles Althea Essey did a ballet toe dance and a pantomime number. Sonny Winfield played trumpet solos.

Winning the prizes for the evening were Mrs. Lois Mazur, Mrs. Lee Wisyanski and Mary Valko.

Mrs. Kurdilla was also chairman of the affair with Mrs. Ann Gansler as co-chairman. Mrs. Betty Terensky was in charge of tickets.

Monessen 'Letters' at High School

Monessen High letter-winners in volleyball, tennis, track and baseball may now pick up their "M's", as well as certificates, at the high school office. The awards were late in arriving and could not be distributed before school was dismissed for the summer . . . When the Monessen Ozarks upset Charleroi, 7-2, the other night, they ended a six game winning streak by the visitors . . . Speaking of the Ozarks, they've stroked no less than 24 homers in 16 games so far this season. Pappy Johnson is the leader in that department with six circuit tours. Carl Crawley, despite his late start, has travelled around the base paths four times.

Recreation Department officials remind you that summer swimming classes are now being conducted Monday through Friday at the Junior High pool for all age groups. If interested, contact the Recreation office for additional details . . . Rich Ross, the former Vandergrift High football standout, whacked the ball at a .347 clip for the University of Pennsylvania baseballers the past season . . . PIAA member schools will be asked to vote on an admendment to the constitution which will advance the starting date for varsity football to the first Friday following Labor Day.

Father's Day Event at Golf Course

A mixed family event will feature Father's Day at the Mon Valley Country Club this Sunday. Dads will tour the course with their offspring. One proud papa has entered his six year old son in the tourney. Naturally handicaps will be offered to square things a little . . . Incidentally Belle Vernon's Tom Johnston and his son are early favorites in the upcoming event, while Monessen's Charley Williams figures to have one of the largest groups touring the scenic MVCC layout . . . North Cambria Joint High School (Barnesboro-Spangler) is still searching for a varsity football coach. Any wonder, though. The new coach will have to teach either mathematics or art.

The PIAA — the sports governing body for state high schools — operated on a budget of $105,750 during the 1957-58 term. Over half of that total, $54,500 to be exact, was raised through the post-season basketball tournament . . . The current issue of the VFW magazine carries a picture of the Charleroi Midget League baseball champions in 1956. The team was sponsored by the Arden H. Calvert Post 167 . . . Ken Keller, the Salina football star now the property of the Philadelphia Phillies, is spending the summer months at his alma mater, the University of North Carolina.

Johnson Is 'Iron Man' of Ozarks

Pappy Johnson is the "iron man" of the Monessen Ozark cast. He's missed just one game this season due to work. Rarely does Johnson ever sit out a contest . . . Speaking of the Ozarks, hard-hitting Bob Mastracci has been sidelined with a charley-horse . . . Maury Guttman, Charleroi's gift to the Miami University football team, is home for the summer months. He's spending a great deal of time at Nemacolin where he consistently turns in scores in the low 80's. As a matter of fact, he charted an 82 the first time around this summer . . .The PIAA has asked football officials to wear black instead of white caps this season.

Today's Sports Parade—

Hogan, Snead Leading Choices in U. S. Open

By OSCAR FRALEY

TOLEDO, Ohio (UP) — Among the men who will try to whip 'em, it's Ben Hogan as the man to beat in the U. S. Open which starts Thursday at Inverness with Slammin' Sammy Snead as the second choice and strong liking for such as Doug Ford, Jimmy Demaret and young Dow Finsterwald.

Curly - haired Jackie Burke summed it up succinctly when he was asked to name his three choices. The kid from Texas picked, in order, Hogan Ford and Snead

"A chalk eater huh?" somebody sneered

Jackie pinned the heckler with a blue-eyed glance and said

"When you come to the big ones, buster, I'll stay with those stake horses"

Likes Old Timers

Demaret one of the finest wind players and, as such, unquestionably to threat in this one, backed up young Jackie

"You have to stick with the old timers for one-two," he grinned "So I like Hogan and Snead, with Finsterwald as an outside possibility."

Vic Ghezzi, the former PGA champion, horned in to add:

Personally, I like Demaret. He's playing as well as anybody on the circuit. After that you have to take a look at Ford and Snead. If this was the Onio Open, in fact of the National Open, I'd like Sam. But, as I've said before, he's finished second four times and he may need a new set of nerves."

Jimmy Thomson whose forte is blasting the cover off the ball, thinks that Snead has it.

"He's up," Thomson said, "and he's strong enough to get it out of the rough around Inverness. Also, you might say, it seems about time he won it. I've got to figure that old number two will finally make it number one."

Walt Burkemo, the chunky blond bomber from Detroit who is one of the game's finest match players put in a strong vote for Demaret, to be followed home by Ford and Finsterwald.

Julius Boros, picked by Pete Cooper to win a head-and-head battle from Hogan and Snead, shrugged off his chances by talking for, Hogan and Arnold Palmer in that order.

Worsham Likes Thomson

"That long iron play and his ability to fight that wind which whips in off Lake Erie has to favor Peter Thomson," former Open king Lew Worsham asserted. "After that, lookout for Finsterwald and Palmer."

Former PGA champion Chick Harbert nodded confirmation.

"That Thomson is my man," he said. "After that I'll take Snead and Finsterwald"

So, with the big one just one day away, the consensus is Hogan. But, as usual, Old Fearless is going to have to go with Slammin' Sammy Snead To me, it would be one of the best sports stories of all time if the balding man from the West Virginia hills could win it

And I think he can

Rain Holds Up City Loop Card

Last night's City Softball League game was rained out, but there was some excitement just the same.

The league held a special meeting at the Ravens Club.

Among other things, it was decided to continue with three rounds of play. There will be one game scheduled, nightly.

A protest lodged by Italian Hall against MPSA was withdrawn. The league also agreed not to schedule games on June 20 and June 28 at City Park in compliance with a request from the Girl Scouts.

All teams were represented at the meeting.

Tonight's attraction will send the Cro-Ams against ULBA.

Currently the Cro-Ams are atop the standings with a 4-1 record ULBA is last with an 0-4 chart.

Top Golfers Prepare For U. S. Open Play

By LEO H. PETERSEN

TOLEDO, Ohio (UP) — Eight golfers who are trying to win the tough, rough and lightning fast Club for the last time today before they tee off for the game's biggest prize—the U. S. Open championship.

The man they had to beat, according to the bookmaker's odds and the golfers themselves, was no one less than one of the old men in the field—Bantam Ben Hogan.

Hogan, who has won this one four times and is shooting for an unprecedented fifth, doesn't claim too much for his own chances, for he is experimenting with a new putting grip. But those who have played practice rounds with him over the tight, rolling 6,919-yard par 70 layout say he is hitting the ball as well as ever.

Ben Mentally Perfect

As for his putting, the veteran Gene Sarazen, one of the former champs in the field who has been testing the course with Hogan in practice rounds, suggested there was nothing for Ben to worry about

"With these small and fast greens, the only way to putt is to close your eyes and hope for the best," Sarazen said. "We played the course Tuesday after 10 hours of rain and the greens were so fast it was impossible to judge them. Imagine how fast they will be if we get a few days of hot sun"

Hogan, who is 45, appeared in fine spirits. His practice round playing partners, including another veteran of the golfing wars, Jimmy Demaret, said they have never seen him more jovial.

"You'd have to say his mental attitude is perfect," Demaret said. "This isn't the serious Hogan we used to know. Maybe he has learned to relax, and if he has—look out."

Demaret himself, who is 46 and the only grandfather in the field, is among those classed right behind Hogan in the favorite's role.

Asst. Coaches At Charleroi Get Big Pay Boosts

More than $6,000 in salary increases have been handed out to Charleroi High School coaches.

The Charleroi School Board this week approved this revised pay scale.

Football

Assistants: Frank Lee and Frank DeCoster, from $600 to $800; George Chacko, from $900 to $1100; Joe Barcelona, from $300 to $500. Head coach Rab Currie previously received an increase from $1667.67 to $2000 per year under a separate three-year contract granted last winter. DeCoster will also receive an additional $400 as custodian of equipment.

Basketball

Head coach Henry Pennline, from $1000 to $1350; Assistants: Frank Lucas, from $300 to $500, plus $200 as custodian of equipment; Jim Protin, from $200 to $400; Chacko, from $500 to $700, plus $100 as custodian of junior high equipment.

Baseball

Head coach Jim Fillingham from $500 to $850, plus $100 as custodian of equipment.

The Board also voted to pay Miss Lois Baker $125 per season as varsity tennis coach, but dropped wrestling as an interscholastic sport and will try to institute it as part of the winter recreation program.

Pete Garnic, who is also Junior High principal, will continue to draw $1650, plus $100 for traveling expenses

California Meets Penn State in NCAA Again

OMAHA, Neb (UP)—California moved into the finals bracket of the NCAA college World Series today, a solid favorite to win the national collegiate baseball title for the second time in the 11-year history of the event.

The Golden Bears, who routed Iowa State, 9-1, Tuesday night to remain unbeaten in the double elimination tournament, were to meet Penn State tonight for the title. The Nittany Lions edged Notre Dame, 5-4, to win a finals berth.

A California victory over once-beaten Penn State would mean the championship, while a Penn State victory would force a Thursday night rematch of the same clubs.

California was expected to start lanky George Sterling (4-0) against Penn State's Cal Emery (10-0).

The Bears staged an eight-run rally in the sixth inning Tuesday night to overcome a 1-0 Iowa State lead and oust the Cyclones from the tourney.

Penn State saved its win with two runs in the top of the ninth inning. The Nittany Lions led 5-2 when Notre Dame tallied twice in the ninth and had runners on first and third with two out.

Kadis Fund Reaches $37,000

Wheeling Downs Up For Auction

WHEELING, W. Va. (UP) — Wheeling Downs race track goes on the auction block today to help satisfy the federal government's multi - million dollar tax claims against owner William (Big Bill) Lias.

The sale, scheduled to start at 2 p.m., e.d.t., was ordered by Federal Judge Harry E. Watkins after Lias lost out on his last appeal to avoid paying $3,285,000 in back taxes.

Lias' 60 per cent share in the track on Wheeling Island in the Ohio River will go to the federal government. The remaining 40 per cent goes to his family.

Receiver Carl O. Schmidt, who has the right to reject any or all bids, said the lowest offer he will accept is $1,400,000. Murray Realty Co. of Philadelphia already has indicated it will offer $1,800,000

Dave Ricketts Signs with Cards; Joins His Brother

POTTSTOWN, Pa (UP)—Dave Ricketts, Duquesne University basketball and baseball star, left for Rochester, N Y, Tuesday to join the Red Wings and his older brother, Dick.

Dave is a catcher and the International League club will have a brother battery when he handles Dick, one of the club's star pitchers. Dick was a basketball, All-America at Duquesne.

Dave, 21, was graduated from Duquesne June 2 and signed a St. Louis Cardinal contract Monday night after dickering with six other major league clubs. Rochester is a Cardinal farm club.

Dave said he received offers from the Phillies, Pirates, Dodgers, Indians, Red Sox and Senators, but that he signed with the Cards because they promised to start him with a Triple-A club. He hit .370 in 17 college games this season.

Ozarks Take on Vans Tonight

Mon Valley League Game Is Slated at Ninth Street Park

The Monessen Ozarks will play host to Van Voorhis tonight at Ninth Street Park if the weatherman permits.

Quite frankly, the Ozarks would just as soon have the game postponed. That will give their one-man pitching staff — Bill Mitnick — an opportunity to rest another day.

So far, Mitnick has been the only Ozark hurler to win with any consistency.

Happily, John Stetsko — a Bethany College product — looked pretty good despite a losing effort on Sunday. With a little more work, he may develop into another Monessen winner.

If the Ozarks play tonight, Stetsko will probably get the call.

Tied for Sixth

Even though the Ozarks are currently tied for sixth in the league standings, a modest winning streak will vault them right into pennant contention.

Other games tonight will send Donora to Fayette City, New Eagle to Perryopolis and Charleroi to West Newton.

There is also a full card of games on tap for Friday. Monessen will appear at West Newton, Fayette City at New Eagle, Van Voorhis at Donora and Perryopolis at Charleroi.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

Downswing Too Fast

Oridnarily I don't like to prescribe gimmicks for ailing golfers. A player becomes too dependent on them and tends to overdo them.

But for a golfer who can't resist the urge to start the hit from the top of the backswing, a gimmick is the answer.

The gimmick I prescribe in these cases is shifting the weight back to the left foot as the first action of the downswing...Forgot the hands. This weight shift will bring the hands down into hitting position naturally. It will also start the hips turning back to the left.

These are the simultaneous actions that should occur as the downswing begins. They should be thought of together. But if you need quick relief, concentrate on the weight shift.

Pirates Whack Cincy 8-1, Behind Purkey

PITTSBURGH (UP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates continued their new-found mastery over the league-leading Cincinnati Redlegs Tuesday night with a five-hit 8-1 triumph pitched by Bob Purkey.

The only Redleg solace came in the third inning when the visitors completed a triple play to nip a Pirate rally.

The Bucs, who scored one run in the initial frame, tallied another in the third and had bases loaded on singles by Gene Baker, Dee Fondy and a walk to Frank Thomas.

Jim Pendleton lined a shot off reliever Art Fowler that appeared ticketed for a base hit. But second baseman John Temple speared the ball and tossed to shortstop Roy McMillan who doubled Fondy off second.

Then McMillan threw to first baseman George Crowe who nipped Thomas after he failed to return to the bag in time.

13-Hit Attack

The Pirates unleashed a 13-hit attack with Baker pounding a triple and two singles and Bill Mazeroski collecting a pair of singles and a double.

Pittsburgh scored a pair of runs in the fourth and eighth innings to go along with single tallies in the first, third, fifth and sixth frames.

The Redlegs averted a shutout in the fourth when Temple led off with a single and was forced at second by Gus Bell. Then Frank Robinson singled home the run.

Campanella Tops In Homer Hitting

BROOKLYN (UP) — Roy Campanella of the Brooklyn Dodgers ranks officially today as the greatest homer-hitting catcher in National League history.

Campanella hit the 237th homer of his career in the seventh inning of Tuesday night's 7-2 loss to the Milwaukee Braves. He had been tied with Gabby Hartnett for the record.

Yogi Berra of the New York Yankees holds the major league mark of 244 homers by a catcher.

Braves May Get Red Schoendienst

BROOKLYN (UP)—If the New York Giants say "yes" today to a "solid, definite" offer made them by the Milwaukee Braves, Red Schoendienst will be cavorting at second base for the Braves tonight.

And pitcher Gene Conley, second baseman Danny O'Connell, and outfielder Bobby Thomson — the man who won the 1951 "Little Miracle" pennant for the Giants —will be in Giant uniforms.

General Manager John Quinn of the Braves disclosed he made a firm trade offer to Giant vice-president Charles (Chub) Feeney Tuesday afternoon. He refused to name the players involved but it was learned the 3-for-1 swap outlined above was it.

The obstacle to the deal appeared to be Giant hopes of landing either pitcher Bob Buhl or pitcher Ray Crone instead of Conley, an off-and-on sore arm case.

Score Out Until August 'At Least'

CLEVELAND (UP)—Cleveland pitcher Herb Score, sidelined by a severe eye injury since May 7, will be unable to return to action until at least August 1.

After an eye examination Tuesday, Score was told he must remain relatively inactive for another four weeks. The treatment was prescribed by eye specialist Dr. Charles Thomas who has treated Score since the pitcher was struck in the eye by a line drive.

After the examination Dr. Thomas said, "Herb's condition is greatly improved and his eye has responded well to the medication prescribed for him."

Belmont Stakes Set for Saturday

NEW YORK (UP)—The likelihood today was for a starting field of eight Saturday in the $100,000 Belmont Stakes, the third jewel in racing's Triple Crown classic.

With the Calument Farm more than likely not represented in the mile and one - half event, Bold Ruler, the Preakness winner, will be the horse to beat.

Expected to start along with Bold Ruler are Gallant Man, Bold Nero, Cohoes, Inside Track, Promised Land, Nah Hiss and the surprising Lucky Dip.

But no matter how many reach the post in the rich classic, Bold Ruler, a colt with the ability and desire to run distance races, will be the favorite.

Cardinals Trip Philadelphia To Move into Wild Pennant Race

By FRED DOWN

The St. Louis Cardinals' longest winning streak in five years today turned the National League race into a five-team donnybrook that threatens to make last year's three-team affair look like a tea party.

The Cardinals, who hadn't won seven straight games since August, 1952, reached that total Tuesday night when they celebrated Stan Musial's record-tying 822nd consecutive game with a 5-2 decision over the Philadelphia Phillies. That victory combined with Pittsburgh's 8-1 win over Cincinnati and Milwaukee's 7-2 triumph over Brooklyn means there are a scant 33 percentage points separating the first and fifth-place teams in the N.L.

The world champion New York Yankees quieted talk of an impending American League runaway with a 3-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox that cut the losers' first-place margin to four games. The season's largest crowd 49,114—saw the Yankees hand the White Sox their third straight defeat and their fouth in five games.

Redlegs Pull "Triple"

Ruben Gomez pitched the New York Giants to 5-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs in the other N. L. game while the Cleveland Indians beat the Boston Red Sox, 7-6, and the Baltimore Orioles defeated the Detroit Tigers, 4-1, in other A. L. games. Washington at Kansas City was rained out.

Murry Dickson turned in a seven-hitter for his third victory behind a 15-hit St. Louis attack that included four hits by Al Dark and three by Del Ennis. Hal Smith homered for the Cardinals in the second inning and started a three-run rally in the sixth with a triple. Musial, who tied Gus Suhr's N. L. endurance mark, contributed only a single.

The Pirates were victimized by the first triple play of the N. L. season in the third inning but got five-hit pitching from Bob Purkey to win their third straight game over a contender. Gene Baker and Bill Mazeroski had three hits each for the Pirates, who are "getting into the act" with seven victories in their last 11 games.

Bobby Thomson hit a grand-slam homer and Joe Adcock also homered as the Braves connected for 11 hits to ease Ray Crone's path to his third win. Gino Cimoli and Roy Campanella homered for the Dodgers who dropped their fourth in a row.

Shantz Rolls On

Bobby Shantz won his sixth straight game for the Yanks and seventh of the year in the opener of the big three-game series with the White Sox. Mickey Mantle cracked his 16th homer to get the Yankees off in front in the first inning and scored the winning run after doubling in the fifth. Bob Grim finished up for Shantz, who weakened in the eighth.

Chico Carransquel's two - run homer enabled the Indians to come from behind and tag relief ace Ike Delock with his sixth defeat. Roger Maris, Bob Avila and Jim Hegan also homered for the Indians and Ted Williams hit No. 14 for the Red Sox.

Jim Pyburn's two-run homer—his first round-tripper of the year—sparked the surprising Orioles to their third straight win and ninth in 12 games. Connie Johnson scattered eight hits to chalk up his fifth triumph of the season.

Pitt Sophomore Wins in Golf

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Pitt sophomore Ronnie Schwarzel of Duquesne, Pa., fired a six-over-par 148 Monday to win the medal honors in the western qualifier for the Pennsylvania amateur golf championships.

Tommy Smith of Greensburg took second place with a 150, followed by Jim Holden of Longue Vue who carded 152 on the Pittsburgh Field Club course.

About 40 entries in the field of 100 will qualify for the state amateur play scheduled for Oakmont Country Club July 18-20.

The exact qualifying number was withheld pending the result of qualifying rounds in Lancaster and Philadelphia.

Today in Congress —

Union Welfare Fund Probe Is Launched

WASHINGTON (UP)—Congress today launched a full-scale investigation into the handling of nearly 40 billion dollars in union welfare funds.

Chairman Graham A. Barden (D-N.C.) said his House Labor Committee was undertaking the inquiry with the aim of drafting legislation to protect workers against any racketeering by union officials.

He said the committee's opening session was to set "our compass to see where we are going." The group summoned two insurance experts as first witnesses.

The great sums of money involved in welfare funds can greatly influence the nation's economy, Barden said. The funds, he added, also represent the future pensions of workers and must be protected.

Committee member Cleveland M. Bailey (D-W.Va.) said he would insist that United Mine Workers President John L. Lewis be called to testify later on methods by which a union can safely protect such funds.

Other congressional news:

Appropriations: The Senate planned to vote today on two multi-billion dollar appropriations bills to run government agencies next year. The group last night approved a $3,668,972,157 Agriculture Department money bill including 500 million dollars to extend the soil bank program a year. Senators expected to vote today on the independent offices bill and a measure providing funds for the Labor Department and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Civil Rights: House civil rights supporters expressed confidence they had the votes to defeat the jury trial amendment. One supporter said two-thirds of House Republicans and half the Democrats will oppose the measure. But at least one southerner said he still feels the outlook "is pretty good" for adoption of the amendment.

Television: Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) called on Secretary of State John Foster Dulles to press immediately for a chance to have American officials appear on Russian television. He said the "time to act is right now" following the U. S. television appearance of Soviet Party leader Nikita Khrushchev.

Washington Twp. Auxiliary Plans For Parades

The Ladies Auxiliary to the Washington Township Fire Co made plans to parade last night at Everson at a meeting held on Monday evening in the fire hall. Mrs. Honor Hamer was in charge and also conducted the opening in place of the chaplain, Mrs. Edna Axton, who is ill.

The committee on visitation of sick reported on both Mrs. Axton and Mrs. Emma Wilson.

The ways and means committee announced that a successful party was held on Monday evening of last week and plans were made for a card party to be held next week. It will be Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the fire hall.

Gloria Kelly and Marion Harris were appointed hostesses for the next session.

A social hour followed and luncheon was served by Marie Flenniken and Lena Bestwick.

Breakwell Family Reunion Saturday

Relatives of the late Edward and Emma Breakwell will have the annual family reunion on Saturday at Monessen City Park at Shelter 4. The picknickers are asked to gather at 1 o'clock and the outing will conclude at 9 p. m. following the annual business session.

Guy Breakwell is president of the family group and Mrs. Honor Hamer is secretary.

Carl Bercini, of Green St., is a medical patient in the Monongahela Memorial Hospital.

Army Claiming Missile Fills Defense Gap

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Army announced today that it has successfully developed a missile capable of defending against low-flying attacking aircraft.

The missile, known as the Hawk, will fill a gap in present defense systems. Existing missile guard against high-flying attackers but have failed against planes flying at low altitudes. The failure resulted from interference to standard radar operations.

The Army disclosed it already has started action in the New York and Washington - Baltimore areas to get sites needed for the new Hawk system. It said each battery will require about 40 acres for emplacement.

To cut down on land-holding requirements and in the interest of safety, the Army said the missiles will be stored underground.

Former Resident To Leave for Army Service

Word has been received in Belle Vernon that Harold R. Sale, son of Mrs. Evelyn Krepps Sale, of Baltimore, Md., and the late John Sale, formerly of Belle Vernon, will leave about June 23 for Fort Knox, Ky., for about six months active duty with the U. S. Army Signal Corps Reserve, 971st Detachment.

He was graduated on June 9 from Kenwood High School with a class of 510 seniors and received a special athletic award for representing his school in Cross Country and also in track as a half miler for the past three years. The Kenwood team won the 1957 championship.

Joanne Sale, daughter of Mrs. Sale, recently spent a few days in the Poconos at Vacation Valley as a guest of Gerald Carrick and Sigma Pi Fraternity of Drexel Institute of Technology, Philadelphia. The highlight of her visit was the Orchid Ball, which she attended.

Miss Sale is employed with the Glenn L. Martin Aircraft Co. in Baltimore with the Orlando, Fla. Division.

Marion Church Young Adults Discuss Plans

The opening devotional period was conducted by Avalina Mavrinas on Monday evening when the Young Adult Class of the Marion Presbyterian Church met in the church social rooms.

Mrs. Billie Davis, president, was in charge of the business session during which the purse money was turned in and all details on the project concluded.

It was decided that each member would contribute one penny for every meal to the organ fund and that anyone in the church who wishes to may join in this special effort.

Next Tuesday the annual Sunday School picnic will be held and the class members were asked to attend. It will be at Monessen City Park.

A social hour followed and luncheon was served by Betty Peters and Ida Mae Holet.

Legion Auxiliary To Hold Card Party Tomorrow

Another in the series of Thursday evening card parties will be held tomorrow by the Ladies Auxiliary to Belle Vernon American Legion Post 659 at 8 p. m. in the club room of the Legion Home. Mrs. Ann Lucas will be the chairman.

Last Thursday evening there were 11 tables of cards in play. Five hundred awards were made to Mrs. Mary Pupilli, Mrs. Eland, Sara Bush and Leona Evans, euchre, Mrs. Frances Seibert, Mrs. Ann Lucas, Mrs. James Davis and Ida Miller.

The guest award was won by Mrs. Helen Wilson and two special prizes were won by Betty Lucas and Paul Lucas.

Olive Palfrey was party chairman with Mrs. Lily Wells as co-chairman and they were assisted by Mrs. Alice Smith, Evelyn Komlos, Ann Lucas, Mercy Michener and Mrs. Emma Jarvis.

Mrs. Edna Axton, of Fairhope, underwent major surgery yesterday at the Mercy Hospital, Pittsburgh.

Council Hears Reports on Sewers at June Meeting

Reports on sewer work and other activity were the principal items of business at the June session of the Belle Vernon Borough Council on Monday evening in the borough building.

President Alex Basits was in charge and other councilmen present were John Cavannaugh, Joe Caputo and Roger Gaggini. Others present were Solicitor John E. Costello, Chief of Police Vincent Isenberg, Acting Street Commissioner Ed Johnson and Burgess William Venneri.

The financial report indicated that the balance in all accounts totaled $11,043.11 and Tax Collector Steven Smith reported that taxes collected last month amounted to $1,248.10.

Council was advised that the State will assume the responsibility of the health department in the borough as of June 5 and it was also announced that Fayette County medical director is Dr. Miller H. Cloud.

The street committee reported that 11 additional gratings were needed to complete the installation of sewers in East Belle Vernon on Columbus and Adams Ave. Extensive sewer work was done during the past month.

The contract was awarded to the Charleroi Scrap Iron Co. for the removal of the street car rails from Main St.

It was reported that the Belle Vernon Fire Co. No. 2 was purchasing 400 feet of hose.

Last month's parking meter collections amounted to $159.25.

Plans were advanced for the repair of a pair of steps from the Belle Vernon-Fayette City road up over the hill into East Belle Vernon.

Burgess William Venneri announced that the speed trap will be put into operation in the downtown streets in order to control speed and insure safety.

Ed Johnson was hired on a temporary basis in his capacity of acting street commissioner due to the illness of Street Commissioner Joe Stephens.

New Radios for Fire Use Are Received Here

President Vic Silvestro announced that the new land base radios purchased by the North Belle Vernon Fire Co. have been received at a meeting held on Monday evening in the fire hall.

The radios will give a stronger contact between the fire station and the men at the scene of a fire and will operate in a similar manner to those used by the Monessen Fire Co. Installation will be made in the near future.

The company made plans for attending the Westmoreland County Firemen's Association convention parade in West Newton on Saturday. The company's large marching unit has participated in many parades already this season.

A trip to Pittsburgh was planned for July 16 when the men will attend a Pittsburgh Pirate baseball game.

A payment was made on the mortgage on the fire hall.

The regular schedule of meetings will be observed during the summer and one more practice session will be called during the summer months.

Lawn Fete to Be Held Here At St. Sebastian

Final plans are being made for the annual lawn fete to be held by St. Sebastian R. C. Church the week of July 8 to July 13 on the church grounds.

Dinner will be served nightly in the social rooms of the church and the tickets that are sold may be used for the spaghetti and meat ball dinner or any of the other special dinners during the entire week. Women of the church will operate a dining room.

Another special feature being planned is the surprise package booth in which the members of the parish will contribute knick knacks not being used and these will be wrapped in 50 cent packages. Mrs. Edith Ambrose is chairman of this project and there will also be many other attractions at the affair.

Brownie Troops to Suspend Activity

The Fairhope and Lynnwood Brownie Troops of which Mrs. Elsie Adamec, Mrs. Rose Parshall and Justine Nogy are the leaders have suspended activity for the summer months.

The final event for girls of all three troops was a camping trip to Laurel Hill State Park over the weekend. There were 60 people in the camping party including the leaders, Brownies and committee members.

The group went to Camp 8 at the Park on Friday and returned home on Sunday after following a complete program set up by the leaders.

Fire Auxiliary Of Belle Vernon Holds Meeting

A short meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary to Belle Vernon Fire Co. No. 2 was held in the fire hall on Monday evening. Mrs. Dorothy Wendell was in charge and the opening was by the chaplain, Mrs. Rose Beazell. She read a poem, "The World — One Neighbor" after the prayer and pledge of allegiance.

Mrs. Bertha MacDonald reported on the ill members and Mrs. Hazel Isenberg gave the report of the May committee. Carol Davenport, carnival chairman, announced that the carnival was extended through Monday evening because of the rain on Saturday night.

The special prize was won by Ruth Lutes and the auxiliary prize by Mrs. Harriet Neil.

Instead of a social hour the women attended the carnival.

Polio Vaccine Shots Tomorrow

Bellmarette Joint Schools Supervising Principal Robert VanBremen has announced that polio vaccine shots will be given tomorrow only to those students in the North Belle Vernon grade school and Bellmar High School, whose parents signed their consent slips before the last school term ended.

The vaccine will be administered between 9 and 10 a. m. in the High School auditorium and all grade school students must be accompanied by their parents.

School buses will run the regular schedule beginning at Vesley's at 8:45 a. m. North Belle Vernon resident students are asked to report at 9 a. m.

Mrs. Ella Leithold and Mrs. Ruth Tiernan, of Belle Vernon, who are visiting the latter's son, Wayne, in California, recently spent a few days in Mexico.

Missile Blast Gives Scientists Information

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UP) —The explosion of the giant ballistic missile, the Atlas, gave scientists valuable information which was under intensive study today. The huge intercontinental rocket exploded shortly after its maiden launching Tuesday.

The silver, snub - nosed projectile, estimated to be about 100 feet long, rocketed 5,000 feet into the sky from this Air Force guided missile center. It then exploded in a blossom of orange flame and red-hot chunks of metal cascaded into the Atlantic Ocean.

In a terse statement, the Air Force announced:

"A missile was fired from the Cape Canaveral testing area today. Shortly after the launching the missile exploded. There were no casualties.

"Valuable information was gained as a result of this test. Extensive flight testing of rocket missiles in support of a long range ballistic missiles program and others has been going on for some time and will continue."

There was no confirmation from the Air Force here that the projectile was the giant Atlas, but informed sources here and in Washington said flatly it was.

There was no explanation of what caused the missile to explode—whether it was exploded by remote control, or whether something uncontrollable occurred.

It was the Air Force's first big test of the Atlas, the United States' most advanced type of ballistic weapon.

The projectile is designed to carry an atomic or hydrogen warhead 5,500 miles—greater than the distance from New York to Moscow — at speeds of 15,000 miles an hour.

The missile's trajectory is reported to carry it to a height of 800 to 1,500 miles.

Pardons Changes Proposed

HARRISBURG (UP)—Two Republican members of the legislative committee that investigated the state Pardons Board have offered a proposed amendment to the state Constitution to drastically revise the makeup of the agency.

The committee is working on a report expected to be presented to the Legislature this week.

A House bill sponsored Tuesday by Reps. Edwin W. Tompkins (Cameron) committee chairman, and Clarence D. Bell (Delaware) would rip out the present board setup. It would form a board composed of the lieutenant governor, a member appointed by the chief justice of the state Supreme Court, an appointee of the state Superior Court president judge and two members named by the governor.

Other Changes

The board now consists of the lieutenant governor and secretary of internal affairs, both elected officials, and the attorney general and secretary of the Commonwealth, both appointed by the governor.

The proposal also would require that all grants of clemency, commutations and pardons would have to be recommended in writing by a majority of the board after an open meeting and the records filed for public inspection.

Tompkins was chairman and Bell a member of an Assembly committee which investigated alleged political influence exerted on the board to influence its decisions.

Controversy Mounts in Girard Case; Defense Council Blasted

WASHINGTON (UP) — Controversy mounted in the Girard case today over whether a high defense official gave away damaging evidence against GI William S. Girard.

The official, Defense Department general counsel Robert Dechert, said Tuesday night he was misquoted as saying U. S. findings indicated the Ottawa, Ill., soldier "enticed" a Japanese woman closer before firing an empty cartridge that killed her on a firing range in Japan.

Dechert, in a statement issued at the Pentagon, said the statement attributed to him by a Miami, Fla., reporter "omits the crucial words 'the Japanese claim.'

"At no time did I express a personal opinion as to whether actions charged to Girard were or were not in line of duty, or whether Girard did or did not act to entice the Japanese to approach him," Dechert said.

He voiced "deep regret" his statements had caused "such a complete misunderstanding" and added he "certainly did not intend any injustice" to Army Specialist 3-c Girard.

The reporter for the Miami Herald who interviewed Dechert at Coral Gables, Fla., Monday night insisted he had quoted the Defense official correctly. He has kept his notes and would stick by his quotations. His editors said they would back him up.

Criticism Follows

Dechert told the United Press he "probably did" tell the Miami newsman that statements of Japanese witnesses plus that of Girard's GI companion made it clear Girard enticed Mrs. Naka Sakai closer before firing an empty shell from a grenade launcher that killed her.

But the Defense official explained this had been in the press and he was merely explaining the Japanese position.

Dechert's alleged statements at Coral Gables, and his subsequent explanation, drew sharp criticism from some senators and Girard's lawyers here.

Sen. Ralph E. Flanders (R-Vt.), member of a two - man Senate subcommittee which heard Dechert's explanation of the case behind closed doors last Wednesday, told reporters Dechert was "dead wrong" to say Girard lured the woman closer.

"Serious Mistake"

Flanders' comment was based on Dechert's reported Florida statement. The senator said "stories of this sort were brought out at the hearing" but they were "off-the-record" and the subcommittee omitted them from its published transcript to avoid prejudicing Girard's trial.

He accused Dechert of a "serious mistake" and called his reported remarks "unfair to Girard." Flanders said it was for whatever court finally tried Girard to "decide what testimony is worthy of belief." The United States has surrendered jurisdiction over Girard's case to Japan, which plans to try him sometime in late summer. Federal Judge Joseph C. McGarraghy Tuesday gave Girard's American lawyers until Friday to file statements of law in their habeas corpus suit to return him to this country.

Tornadoes Sighted Over Central Plains

By UNITED PRESS

Tornadoes raced across sections of the central plains Tuesday night and weathermen warned of more violent weather today along a squall line stretching from Texas to Ohio.

At least 18 tornado funnels swirled over eastern Kansas Tuesday night, but most of them remained aloft and no deaths or injuries were reported. Other twisters were reported in Missouri and Illinois.

A United Press count showed at least three deaths blamed on the storms, all of them in Illinois. Two persons were killed in a traffic crash on a rain-swept highway and a telephone linesman was electrocuted repairing storm damage near Elmhurst Ill.

Many of the twisters appeared headed for Kansas City, where 40 persons were killed in a tornado last month, but all evaporated before reaching the city. However, high winds hit Kansas City during the night, felling trees and power lines.

Elsewhere along the storm line spawned by a clash of cold and warm air, severe winds, rain and hail buffeted sections of the Texas panhandle, Oklahoma, Colorado, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois Indiana, Kentucky, and Ohio.

Several persons were injured at Pleasure Ridge Park, Ky., a suburb of Louisville, when house trailers were torn from their foundations by the wind and overturned.

High winds also blew the roofs off a post office and grain mill at Montgomery, Ind., and a young girl suffered head injuries there when she was struck by a falling tree.

A grain elevator and several homes were damaged by the wind near Columbus, Ohio.

Greensburg Man Fined by Judge

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP)—Russell W. McBryar, Greensburg RD 4, was fined $100 today by Judge Richard D Laird after he pleaded guilty to failing to stop after an accident.

State police said McBryar's car hit an automobile owned by Ira Hartman on Roadebaugh Road, near Jeannette, and left the scene of the accident.

More Research On Multiple Sclerosis Needed

PHILADELPHIA (UP) —More research is needed before it can be claimed that a cure has been found for the dreaded disease of multiple sclerosis, a research foundation leader said here Monday.

Robert Donner, a Colorado industrialist who heads the Donner Foundation which contributes to sclerosis research, referred to a report last Friday that Miss Rose R. Ichleson, a biologist at St. Luke's Hospital here, had isolated the germ which causes the disease.

Donner cautioned that while her discovery is a contribution in the fight against multiple sclerosis, "it has not yet been proven the germ Miss Ichleson worked on is the cause of the disease."

He said that more research will show whether the germ the woman scientist isolated will lead to a cure of the disease.

Miss Ichleson, immediately after publishing her findings, invited other scientists to check her research work.

Hands Off Policy

ORLANDO, Fla. (UP) — League officials warned baseball team managers today that a rule providing for $50 fines for "laying hands" on an umpire also includes other parts of the anatomy. It also means using the stomach or any other part of the body to shove an umpire around, the league said.

The cultivation of the grape and the making of wine are of remote antiquity.

Regular Meeting Of Hungarian Ladies Is Held

The Hungarian Ladies Auxiliary, of Pricedale, met at Hungarian Hall Thursday for a regular meeting with Eileen Huber, president, in charge.

The following were accepted as new members: Joan Fegal, Mary Jane Robertson and Mary Nicolette.

Irene Wisyanski was elected as the new social secretary. Naomi Sedok was reported on the sick list, Mrs. Kara gave a report on the successful supper held May 19 and Dolores Nescot reported on the card parties held in May.

A birthday table was set and birthdays of the following were observed: Margaret Raboci, Helen Galaydas, Mary Nagy, Ann Klawcho, Betty Roskevitch, Bonnie Dorsey and Mary Trembush.

The door prize was won by Christine Evans and special prizes by Mary Smerecznick and Elizabeth Nescot. Lunch was served by Elizabeth Marciniak, Julia and Mary Nagy and Margaret Raboci.

The next meeting will be held July 11 instead of on the regular meeting date, July 4.

School Continues

The Daily Vacation Bible School of Webster is in its second week. Some 100 are attending.

Scattered Rain Is Expected in Most of State

By UNITED PRESS

Scattered showers and thunderstorms were expected in Pennsylvania today and tonight with gradual clearing during the night.

Temperatures throughout the state were expected to be generally in the 80's, with lows tonight ranging from the low 50's in northern sections to near 60's in the more southerly portions.

The weather today was influenced by a cold air mass which reached the northern borders of the state in morning hours and moved to the southern border towards evening, bringing the precipitation.

Generally fair weather was expected to prevail throughout the state on Thursday as a high centered over the Mississippi Valley moves into the area.

High tomorrow will be mostly in the 70's.

W. S. C. S. Group Meeting Held: Skit Presented

The Women's Society of Christian Service, of Fellsburg, met Thursday at the church with Elizabeth Howenstine, spiritual advisor, in charge. Her topic was "Disciples".

The Youth Fellowship sponsored by Mrs. Kenneth Sarber and Mrs. Charlotte Fisher presented a program in charge of Arlene Fisher, president, with Margie Overand as song leader. Scripture was by Carol Overland and prayer by Lloyd Fisher, who was also pianist.

A skit, "This is Your Life, Youth", was presented by Beverly Douglas, moderator, and Darla Douglas, Carol and Margie Overland and William Sarber.

Lunch was served by Mrs. William and John Stoneman, Mrs. Louis Thompson and Mrs. Leo Volk. Business was in charge of Martha Phythyon, president, during which Mrs. Eva Seiple, secretary, reported.

Plans were discussed for the strawberry festival to be held June 21 at the church beginning at 5 p. m. Tillie Schulz is chairman assisted by Mrs. James Phythyon, Mrs. Flora Cumbert, Mrs. Ralph Cougnenour and Mrs. Dan Wasslichalk.

The class decided to send two girls, Wanda Bainbridge and Maggie Overand, to Jumonville camp.

Area Churches Meet to Plan Church Night

A meeting was held Monday evening in Fells Methodist Church of various Rostraver Twp. churches.

The purpose was to arrange for a "Church Night" at the Township Fair in August. Another meeting will be held Monday at Fells Church.

All churches are asked to send representatives to the meeting and participate in church night.

Attending were Alverta McCall, Leo McIntosh, of Salem Church; Hugh Gallo, Olive Branch; Elmer Gillingham and Pete Cupples, Webster Presbyterian; Dorothy Moneta and Lulu Hepple, Belle Vernon Community; William Heath, Rehoboth; Erma Echart and Virginia Weaver, of Pricedale Union.

Charles Quinn is in charge of the program.

Mideast Relations Strained

By UNITED PRESS

Diplomatic relations between Jordan and Egypt neared the breaking point today.

Cairo Radio savagely attacked Jordan's leaders as traitors who should go to the gallows and blamed them for the loss of Palestine in 1948 when Israel defeated the Arab world.

It was the most bitter attack ever made by Cairo's "Voice of the Arabs" on another Arab state; it emphasized that Syria and Egypt had been left alone in the bloc of "positive neutrality."

Libya also was angry at the Egyptian government. Foreign Minister Whabe Buri summoned Egyptian Ambassador Ahmed Hassan Fagih to his office in Tripoli and protested against Egyptian press attacks on Libya's rulers.

Egypt Accused

An Amman dispatch said Abdel Moneim El Rifai, the Jordanian ambassador expelled by Egypt, had returned home and accused the Egyptian government of misusing Arab nationalism for its own interests.

King Hussein himself was conferring with King Saud of Saudi Arabia on the worsening relations between Jordan and Egypt and it appeared the Arab rift extended to Saudi Arabia and Egypt as well.

Daudi Arabia and Jordan issued a communique in Amman today announcing that travel by Moslem pilgrims to Mecca via the Gulf of Aqaba was undesirable because of the "current situation" in the gulf.

Milk Production Topping Record

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Agriculture Department today estimated milk production in 1957 will total about 128 billion pounds, about two billion pounds above the 1956 record.

The new record output would reflect greater milk output per cow because the country's total dairy herd is the smallest in 23 years.

The department's publication, "The Dairy Situation," said prices received by farmers for milk delivered to plants are averaging a little above a year ago for the third consecutive year. These increases reflect higher prices for fluid and manufacturing milk, and some increase in production of milk used as fluid.

Mayflower II May Dock Today

PLYMOUTH, Mass. (UP) The Mayflower II ran before a spanking southwesterly breeze early today sailing toward her first glimpse of American home.

The tiny vessel was clipping off five knots Tuesday night as she put Nantucket Light Ship far astern. Her bow was pointed slightly north-northeast of an elbow of sand and wind-swept dunes at Land's End, Provincetown. It was here that the original Mayflower with its Pilgrim band wrestled for days with shifting winds and tides.

Skipper Alan Villiers ordered full canvas as the 180-ton square rigger skirted dangerous Nantucket shoal waters and edged north toward Cape Cod under Coast Guard escort. Tuesday night he messaged that the brisk wind might get him to Provincetown sooner than expected.

However, the Coast Guard at Boston said personnel aboard the escorting Yankton predicted arrival time for late today. The ship will be towed to welcoming ceremonies at Plymouth Thursday.

At Provincetown customs and immigration officials will go aboard. Shortly afterwards crew members will reenact the signing of the famous Mayflower Compact.

The vessel marked its 32nd day at sea. The first Mayflower required 66 days to make the Atlantic crossing.

A Relic Returns

NEW YORK (UP)—Police Commissioner Stephen Kennedy said 79 dangerous weapons have been turned in to police during the first nine days of a month-long amnesty. Among them was a World War I machine gun.

1,000 Death Toll In Flu Epidemic

TOKYO (UP) — Officials estimated today that about 1,000 persons have died thus far in the influenza epidemic which has been sweeping the Far East since March.

Hardest hit was the Philippines, where the federal health department said 884 have died to date from the flu virus that started its deadly incursion last month.

A United Press survey showed there have been three deaths in Japan, 40 in Hong Kong, 10 in Singapore and Malaya combined, 11 in Thailand and 44 in Calcutta, India.

Steel Is Expecting Upswing

NEW YORK (UP)—Steel mills don't look for an end to inventory shaving by customers until the fourth quarter when demand, primarily from automakers, will reverse the trend, Iron Age said today.

The authoritative steel trade magazine forecast the cutbacks will have the greatest downward pull on operations in July when cutbacks combine with vacation and maintenance slowdowns to drop output to the lowest in several years.

The magazine said by the fourth quarter, however, automotive and other major users will be back in the market and "the pendulum will swing from inventory cutbacks to inventory buildups in many industries."

"The auto companies already have placed trial orders for new model production," it said.

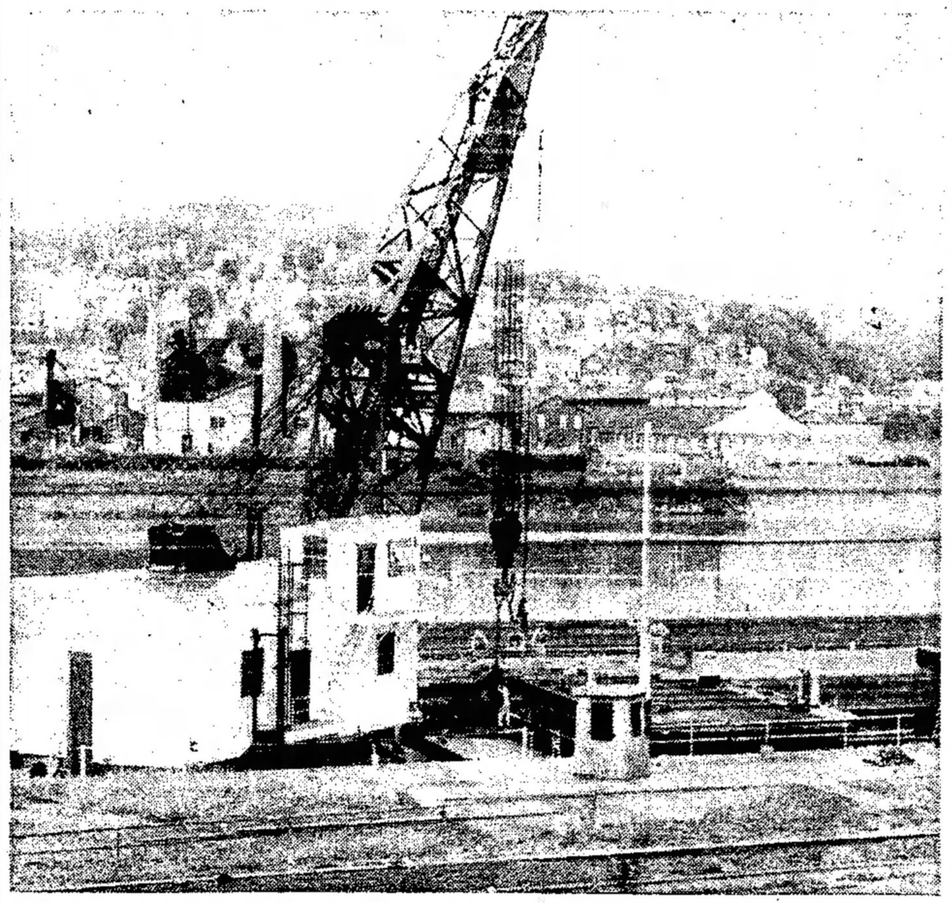
High Levels

Meanwhile, the magazine reported that steel companies are supporting current output with incoming orders and backlogs. For some mills, the strong products—plates, structurals and seamless pipe—are holding operating rates at high levels. Mills heavy on sheet and strip are bearing the brunt of the easier market.

Iron Age said steel operations in June may be a few percentage points better than in May, reflecting price hedging by some users who are pushing the mills for delivery of July orders in June. The moving up of delivery dates is another reason why July operations will be slow, it noted.

Iron Age said the looked-for comeback in the fourth quarter is "more than wishful thinking."

"For the last several years," the magazine said, "the last four months of the year have been exceptionally strong for metalworking.



GATES REPLACED AT LOCK 4 — It took workmen just one day to install two huge steel gates at Lock No. 4, Monessen, yesterday. The new gates, one weighing approximately 60 tons and the other 80 tons, replace gates in need of repair. A total of eight gates are used at the locks. Yesterday's installation did not hinder operations since both gates were installed in the same lane of the two-lane passageway. Boats were funneled through the open lane.

Reds to Start Installment Buying

NEW YORK (UP) —The Communists may use a cornerstone of the capitalistic system to help cure their economic ills.

The Russians are reported considering the introduction of a limited form of installment buying, which is about as American as Indians, ice cream cones and hot dogs.

The unique buy now-pay later plan, which roared in with the 1920's, has become an accepted part of American economic life and has spread to Western Europe.

This system of borrowing for the future to buy things today explains in part why Americans own more automobiles, washing machines, television sets and homes than anyone else in the world. Americans are even sending their children through college and going on round-the-world vacations on the installment plan, paying the debt in equal monthly amounts.

Latest figures showed that Americans were "in hock" to the tune of 40 billion dollars. Nobody was overly concerned about the debt because Americans have established an excellent repayment record.

Reports from Russia indicated that the Communists are looking into the advantages of making installment buying available for the Russian consumer, whose standard of living is below that of his American counterpart.

Installment buying, if adopted by the Communists, would represent a major concession. They long have denounced this form of retailing as "decadent capitalism."

A. W. Zelomek, head of the International Statistical Bureau, told the United Press the Russian change of heart apparently would be based on the realization that installment buying has been one of the things shoring up the American economy.

"The Russians apparently have changed their mind that installment buying breeds depression," Zelomek said.

Billy Graham's New York Crusade Called Successful

(This is the second of a series of special reports by the United Press on the progress of Billy Graham's New York crusade)

By LOUIS CASSELS

NEW YORK (UP) — Is Billy Graham's New York crusade a "success"?

The answer depends on what measuring stick you use.

If you expected the crusade to produce an overnight transformation in the morals and manners of Babylon-on-the-Hudson, you will be disappointed.

There seem to be just as many bars on 52nd Street just as many drunks wandering along Times Square, just as many near-naked girls cavorting in the night clubs, just as much avarice in the cantons of Wall Street, as there was before Billy Graham came to town.

There is one immediately detectable difference. Religion has become a topic of conversation. It is by no means the only, or even the main, topic. But you do hear people talking about the crusade sometimes jestingly, sometimes very earnestly, in places where the name of Jesus Christ has not been spoken except in blasphemy for many years.

Statistically Successful

In purely statistical terms, the meetings which began May 15 in Madison Square Garden have been the most successful Graham has ever conducted. Attendance to date has averaged 17,800 nightly, close to the seating capacity of the Garden. On several evenings the crowd has been so great that 2,000 or more had to be turned away.

The number of people coming forward to make "decisions for Christ" — Graham calls them "inquirers" rather than "converts" — has averaged 578 each night and on occasion has approached 1,000.

With the crusade now extended until July 21, it seems likely that Graham's total New York audience will exceed 1 million.

The response is doubly impressive when you take into account the fact that only about 8 per cent of the city's residents are Protestants like Graham, while 27 per cent are Roman Catholics, 10 per cent are Jews and 55 per cent have no church affiliation.

Letters By Thousands

Graham's mail — which runs more than 1,000 letters a day — indicates that a sizeable number of Catholics and Jews are attending his meetings. And a spokesman for the Graham team said there have been "many" Catholics and Jews among those who have come forward to make "decisions."

The sharpest criticism of the Graham crusade has come from other Protestants who dislike the methods of highly-organized evangelism and doubt the value of mass conversions in a revival atmosphere.

The Christian Century, an old and respected magazine with a wide circulation among Protestant clergymen of all major denominations, has asserted in editorials that "there is something horrifying in this monstrous juggernaut rolling over every sensitivity to its sure triumph."

Others, like theologian Reinhold Neibuhr and Dean Francis B. Sayre of Washington Episcopal Cathedral, have accused Graham of stressing personal reform at the expense of social reform, of failing to put enough emphasis on the "collective sins" of society such as racial discrimination.

Come Under Fire

Graham has also come under fire from extreme fundamentalists who protest his refusal to steer converts to strictly "evangelical" churches; from theological liberals who boggle at his insistence on taking quite literally what the Bible says about sin and salvation, heaven and hell; and from middle-of-the-road Protestant pastors who worry about the disillusionment or despair that may come to "inquirers" who discover that instantaneous conversion at a revival meeting is only the first step in a long process of growth in grace which must continue throughout a Christian's life.

I asked Graham about these criticisms and misgivings during a long private interview in his hotel suite. He declined to talk about some of the sharper, more personal attacks.

"There are enough divisions among Christians already," he said. "I decided a long time ago that I wouldn't answer some of these things. I don't believe the Lord called me to add to the controversies in His family."

Quotes John Wesley

I told him some people felt his preaching depended too heavily on an appeal to fear. Had he ever thought that he might dwell less on the wrath and judgment of God and more on His love and mercy?

In reply he quoted his predecessor in evangelism, John Wesley.

"Before I can preach grace, I must preach law and judgment."

Graham said he tries in every sermon to cut through the shell of "self-righteousness" which keeps men from "recognizing their need of salvation." He does not shy away from the doctrine of eternal punishment of the unrepentant, uncongenial as it may be to the modern mind, because:

"Only when we see ourselves as sinners under judgment are we ready to accept the forgiveness, the reconciling love of God which is offered to us in Christ."

(Next — What happens to Graham's "converts"?)

11-YEAR KIDNAP—Maria Nanos, 13-year-old Greek girl waves on arrival at New York's Idlewild airport after being brought to the U. S. from Bucharest, Romania. When she was 2 years old she was snatched from her family by Communist guerillas. She was located through efforts of Senator Paul Douglas (D., Illinois). She went on to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Nanos, Chicago.

Is Health Officer

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Dr. David C. Prickett, health officer of Marion County, W. Va., today was named to a similar position with the McKeesport district of the Allegheny County Health Department.

College President Is Speaker Before Synod

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP)—Dr. Clarence C. Stoughton, a delegate from the United Lutheran Church in America, will be the featured speaker at today's session of the 20th annual convention of the ULCA's Central Pennsylvania Synod here.

Dr. Stoughton is president of Wittenberg College, Springfield, Ohio. He will be presented to some 600 pastors and laymen following discussions on the church's publications, colleges and home missions.

During Tuesday's opening session, Dr. Ralph C. Robinson, synod secretary, reported the 56 congregations contributed $11,225,964 to all causes of the church during 1956—an increase of 22.9 per cent over 1955. But Dr. Robinson reported the synod increased only 1.1 per cent in baptized membership and 1.8 per cent in communing membership, while Sunday School enrollment declined by 1,011.

"We are barely holding our own in a day when Christ is calling upon his church to advance," Dr. Robinson said.

The assignment of 12 newly-accepted pastors was announced during the session. They were:

Rev. Claude R. Baublitz, York County institutional chaplain; Russell J. Crouse, St. James, Altoona; A. Davis, St. John's, Steelton; Ralph R. Hartzell, Messiah, South Williamsport; Ambrose Hering, executive secretary of Lancaster Inner Mission; Paul E. Jensen, Upper Frankford parish; Robert M. Lezenby, Holy Trinity, Hershey; Howard J. McCarney, St. Matthews, Hanover; C. Edward Noel, Salisbury parish; Dwight L. Miley, chaplain, veterans hospital, Coatesville; C. Wayne Peterman, St. Matthews, Williamsport; and Earl E. Zemer, Messiah, South Williamsport.

More Workers on Farms This Month

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Agriculture Department estimates that 8,238,000 persons were working on farms during the week of May 19-25, about 800,000 more than a month earlier.

The number of farm workers was down about a half million from the same period a year ago. About two-thirds of the decrease was in family workers and one-third in hired hands.

Name Speaker for Methodist Parley

MEADVILLE, Pa. (UP) — The Rev. Dr. Tyler Thompson, professor of philosophy of religion at the Garrett Biblical Institute, Evanston, Ill., will be the speaker at the 122nd annual session of the Methodist Erie Conference meeting here June 12-16.

Dr. Thompson will replace Dr. Edwin Price Booth, who was originally scheduled to speak. Before going to Garrett Institute, Dr. Thompson was an assistant professor of religion at Allegheny College here.

Saint to Sinner

NEW YORK (UP)—Opera basso Jerome Hines, who sang hymns in Madison Square Garden Tuesday night prior to Billy Graham's sermon, asked the audience to forgive him for the role he will sing in Cuba next week. Hines will play Mephistopholes in "Faust."

Exclusive with Buick
SAFETY-BUZZER*
—the "built-in conscience" that buzzes when you reach the miles per hour you want to stay under, keeps silent when you drop below that pace.

You could add up the figures on size, weight, room, power.

From that alone you'd discover an important fact: how much more automobile you get in this Buick that's priced so close to the smaller cars.

But in your heart you know you want even more:

You want action. You want fun. You want lift and life and response. You want to feel absolute master over your going and stopping.

So try this Buick—just try it.

It drives and rides and brakes and steers and handles like no other car you've ever known before.

It has a brilliant new V8 engine—like silk with the flow of Niagara.

It has a spectacular new Dynaflow*—instant and smooth to the infinite.

It has powerful new brakes, new roadability, a new precision in its handling.

But the total feeling you get from all this is far, far more than words can bring you.

Come in, sit behind the wheel, and see for yourself why this great buy is the dream car—the hit of the year—to drive.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special. Safety-Buzzer is standard on Roadmaster; optional at extra cost on other Series.

International Fleet Review

NORFOLK, Va. (UP) — The mightiest international fleet in time of peace today honored the handful of English adventurers who founded Jamestown 350 years ago.

The 108 gleaming warships from 18 nations stood at anchor off the historic Virginia coast waiting to be reviewed this afternoon by Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson.

Wilson was scheduled to be aboard the Canberra. Navy Secretary Thomas Gates was scheduled to be aboard the Boston and Adm. Aleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations, on the Northampton.

The three review ships — the guided missile cruisers Canberra and Boston and the command cruiser Northampton prepared to sail from Norfolk Naval Base for

Paratrooper Dangles to Death Underneath Belly of Big Plane

FT. BRAGG, N. C. (UP) — A young paratrooper pinned to the underbelly of a troop-carrier plane than 100 times, but died dangling day when crewmen failed to rescue him.

The crew tried for nearly three hours to free Pfc. Wayne H. Flugum, 23, of LeLand, Iowa, whose chute-opening line became fouled during a training jump. His parachute did not open. Doctors estimated he died in the air before a final effort to drop him on a foam-cushioned runway could be carried out.

A jet plane sent aloft in a rescue attempt, nudged the spreadeagled soldier with its wingtip tank in an effort to dislodge him so rescuers could pull him into the plane.

May Have "Drowned"

"It was a 90 degree angle and we just couldn't get him up that high," said Sgt. Salvador M. Zamudio of San Antonio, Tex., flight engineer of the plane.

"We had hold of him once," he said. "One man had hold of each of his hands and I grabbed the back of his fatigues but the slipstream was so strong we couldn't hold him."

Doctors said Flugum may have "drowned" in the sea of rushing air or been crushed against the plane by the terrific pressure of its slipstream.

Flugum indicated to crewmen trying frantically to haul him back aboard the plane that his helmet strap was choking him.

Body Hardly Scratched

Crewmen finally cut his body loose as the plane landed on a foam-coated runway at nearby Pope Air Force Base. Medical officers said Flugum had been dead for 30 minutes to two hours.

They said he was "hardly scratched" from the fall into the foam which covered 1,000 feet of runway.

Zamudio said later that Flugum "talked to us but he couldn't hear himself because of the noise and it was mostly lip-reading and sign language."

When Flugum indicated that the helmet strap was cutting off his breathing Zamudio said he tried to remove the helmet, "But I just couldn't reach it."

He said Flugum's lips formed the world "please" over and over. "He must have said 'please' a hundred times, asking us to 'please' get him in the plane. We just couldn't."

Costs Money to Refund Money

PITTSBURGH (UP) — It's costing Manufacturers Light and Heat Co. 10 cents to refund a penny to some customers who have rebates coming to them.

The refunds resulted from a Public Utility Commission order last March reducing a rate increase put into effect in 1954.

Approximately 80,000 consumers who used Manufacturers gas for short periods during a 15-month period were receiving rebate checks which cost 10 cents each.

Church Synod Names Layman To Top Post

GROVE CITY, Pa. (UP)—The Pennsylvania Synod of the Presbyterian Church has elected a layman to its top administrative post—for only the third time in its history.

Norman N. Mench, an elder of the First Presbyterian Church of Altoona and a retired Pennsylvania Railroad engineman, was chosen Monday synod moderator at the 76th annual meeting here at Grove City College.

The Rev. Edward M. Flannigan of the First Presbyterian Church, Irwin, Pa., was runner-up in the balloting by church elders representing 40,000 persons in the synod's 1,154 churches.

About 680 delegates were attending the Presbyterian meeting which closes Thursday.

Ligonier Man Is Sued for Damages

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP) — Esther L. Menoher filed a suit today for more than $500 against Alvin Seiler, Ligonier, for property damage he allegedly committed while a tenant in her building.

The Ligonier woman's suit, filed in Westmoreland County Court, charges that Seiler damaged and removed a number of electric conduits and other fixtures.

Record Level Of Employment During May

WASHINGTON (UP)—The number of employed Americans rose by 917,000 in May to a total of 65,178,000. That was a record level for the month.

The number of unemployed persons looking for jobs edged upward by 25,000 to 2,715,000, although some decline is usual in May, the Labor and Commerce departments reported.

The report said the increase in employment was about usual for this time of year. But, the departments noted, factory employment fell "somewhat more than usual" for the fifth straight month. The big increases were in farm and construction work.

The departments said the rise in employment did not affect the jobless total because most of the additional job holders in May were housewives and students who had not been looking for jobs in April, and therefore had not been counted as unemployed in that month.

The departments said that despite the increase in job holders last month, total employment was "not significantly" higher than in May, 1956. The May 1957 total was estimated to be 229,000 higher than a year ago.

Steel Mills to Up Production, Report Claims

NEW YORK (UP)—Steel mills cut production to 87.5 per cent of capacity last week but schedules this week call for operations at 88.2 per cent according to the weekly report of American Iron & Steel Institute.

Output this week is expected to total 2,257,000 tons, or 140.5 per cent of the 1947-1949 average production. Last week's operations yielded 2,240,000 tons, or 139.4 per cent of 1947-1949 average output, and considerably below the 2,274,000-ton yield which had been anticipated.

A month ago mills operated at 84.2 per cent for 2,155,000 tons, a production index of 134.2 per cent, and a year ago at 93.4 per cent for 2,299,000 tons, an index of 143.1.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Angela Marie Clausi, who died 10 years ago today, June 12, 1947.
We are lonely, yes, for mother,
In the years that passed away.
And we know she'll always guide us
Till we meet again some day.
She is happy, reunited
With her dear old husband dear.
In that beautiful "Isle of Somewhere."
They wait their children there
Sadly missed by daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Provinzano, Son, Grandchildren, Nieces, Nephews and Great Grandchildren

Meany for New Laws to Curb Employer Abuses

WASHINGTON (UP)—AFL-CIO President George Meany called today for new legislation to curb abuses by employers as well as unions in the administration of employe welfare and pension funds.

Meany said the great majority of such plans are operated by employers. He insisted they, too, be covered by any new legislation.

The AFL-CIO chief urged Congress to require that annual reports be filed with a government agency for "public disclosure of the financial affairs of health, welfare and pension plans, including the details of their transaction with outside insurance carriers and agents."

Meany made these recommendations in testimony prepared for the Senate subcommittee on welfare and pension plan legislation. He said it is "the present duty of Congress to develop and enact legislation which will promote the most effective self-policing action."

Charles Curtis, one-time vice president of the United States, was a descendant of Indian chiefs in the Osage and Kaw tribes.

Light Pickup Trucks Given Speed Boost

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader today signed legislation permitting light pickup trucks to travel up to 50 miles an hour on all state highways not otherwise restricted.

The governor said that "modern technological advances" now permit the smaller commercial vehicles, which include most of the pickup trucks and station wagons registered in the "R" class to safely travel at the higher speeds.

He emphasized, however, they must still meet state requirements as to horsepower and braking surface.

The governor also signed into law a bill authorizing payment of penalties in lieu of suspensions for violation of the state's milk control law. The state Milk Control Commission may now accept in compromise a payment of $50 for each day of suspension imposed.

Livestock Bothered by Heat More Than Cold

By UNITED PRESS

Well-fed livestock suffer more from heat than cold, and now is the time to prepare for the coming hot weather, according to Tom King, extension animal husbandry specialist at Penn State.

King claims too many farm buildings are constructed with winter weather in mind, and better planning for any new buildings for beef cattle, sheep or hogs will greatly reduce the necessity of taking extra steps each spring in preparation for summer months.

If natural shade is not available on pastures, King suggests building artificial shades with a framework of light poles with a roof cover of straw or corn stover. Old sections of woven or chicken wire can be used to keep the straw or corn stover in place.

But King advises that the roof be built high enough to allow for the circulation of air. Large fans should be used if feeder cattle or hogs are confined in buildings.

King says proper preparation for summer will help overcome the usual slowness in weight gains when livestock suffer from heat.

Fertilizer

"The more the merrier" doesn't apply when it comes to fertilizer for plants, according to Penn State extension vegetable specialist Jim Dutt.

Dutt says commercial plant growers as well as home gardeners can get into trouble by over fertilizing plants. Such crops as lettuce, peppers and tomatoes are very sensitive to high-soluble salts which result from over-fertilization, he says.

Rabbits

Bob Wingard, Penn State extension wildlife specialist, says numerous complaints have been received concerning crop damage due to rabbits.

Wingard said chemical repellents, either sprays or dusts, may solve the problem, although damage control may not be complete when rabbit populations are high. The only positive method of prevention, he said, is a fence, made of poultry wire and about two feet high running completely around the area to be protected.

WAKE UP RARIN' TO GO
Without Nagging Backache

Now! You can get the fast relief you need from nagging backache, headache and muscular aches and pains that often cause restless nights and miserable tired-out feelings. When these discomforts come on with overexertion or stress and strain—you want relief—want it fast! Another disturbance may be mild bladder irritation following wrong food and drink—often setting up a restless uncomfortable feeling.

For quick relief get Doan's Pills. They work fast in 2 separate ways: 1. by speedy pain-relieving action to ease torment of nagging backache, headaches, muscular aches and pains, 2. by their soothing effect on bladder irritation, 3. by their mild diuretic action tending to increase output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

Find out how quickly this 3-way medicine goes to work. Enjoy a good night's sleep and the same happy relief millions have for over 60 years. Ask for new, large size and save money. Get Doan's Pills today!

Andy Williams Gets Own TV Show July 2

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP)—Andy Williams, a singer who gets his own TV show next month, seems to have found himself. But his business—pop music—seems to be lost.

William Ewald

groping right now," said Williams who kicks off a 15-minute music segment with June Valli on NBC July 2. The show will replace the Jonathan Winters offering.

"The record business is run by grown-ups,

"Everybody in this business is but it's the kids who make or break a record now.

They're the ones buying all the singles. It's gotten to the point where the heads of some record companies are checking with their kids to find out whether a record can make it or not."

Steve Allen Singer

Williams, who used to chirp on the Steve Allen "Tonight" show, currently cuts for Cadence Records, a firm run by Archie Bleyer. You may remember Bleyer as one of the earliest refugees from the Arthur Godfrey family.

The 26-year-old Williams, who has been singing professionally since he was eight, never managed to dent the juke boxes until recently. However, over the past few months he has hit with "Canadian Sunset," "Butterfly" and "I Like Your Kind of Love."

Want Rock 'N' Roll

"I don't make records to please myself anymore," said Williams. "You can't do that and stay in business. I make a record that I hope will sell."

"Right now, the kids want rock 'n' roll. So I give them rock 'n' roll. I don't dislike it—I think some of it is good and some of it is terrible. I don't say it's the best music, but I don't think it's as bad as some adults seem to think

"The thing is it's children's music. It's a fad."

Williams and Miss Valli promise to give the entire musical spectrum a fair shake when they unveil their new show.

"Everybody's moaning about the music business now," said Williams, "but there are good tunes around like 'On The Street Where You Live' and 'Joey.' Everybody's always asking where are the great ones like 'Body And Soul' but they forget the junk that was sung back then, too

"As for rock 'n' roll, it's not all alike as some think I wish it were just formula music. If it were that simple. I could make a million dollars with a new hit record every week."

Young Designer Wants Men in Livlier Clothes

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—A young New York designer who made Jayne Mansfield's neckline famous accuses Liberace and Elvis Presley of fouling up his campaign to get men into more interesting clothes.

"Liberace and Elvis have set men's fashions back 20 years," fumed Elgee Bovee, at 22 one of the country's top designers.

"When you try to get men to wear more interesting clothes they're afraid of appearing feminine. Liberace's frilly shirts with gobs of lace kill men's ear He looks like a ruffled layer cake"

"I'd like to see some of those sloppy slobs like Marlon Brando get into more attractive clothes. Most of these new clothes I designed for myself (he gets an award in Chicago June 20 as one of the country's best-dressed executives). I had so many requests for copies that I'm manufacturing my clothes for national distribution"

Bovee's ideas—revolutionary for men's wear — include evening shirts decorated with crocheted edges (but not frilly) and Sunday shirts of fancy white-on-white fabric. He also hopes men will buy his bright red velvet dinner jackets, wool jersey suits (lined to prevent itching), black satin tuxedoes with matching shoes, broadcloth coats with fur collars, ties copied after a bullfighter's and even fur hats.

"Men wear fur hats in Europe—why not here?" demanded Bovee

Low-Salt Diet Doesn't Limit You Too Rigidly

Your Health—

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Probably no diet causes more consternation among patients than one which restricts sodium consumption. Bewildered, the patients ask.

"But how can I tell whether food contains salt or not?"

To the average person, this does present a problem, one I would like to help solve right now.

While there are many foods especially prepared for those of you who must avoid salt, you also have a wide choice of foods in everyday use.

Following are foods generally permitted in a low-sodium diet:

Cereals — Puffed wheat and puffed rice, shredded wheat, rolled oats and rolled wheat, wheat meal, cooked and unsalted farina, rice, macaroni and spaghetti.

Eggs — Only one per day.

Meat and Poultry — Fresh and frozen veal, pork, beef, lamb, rabbit, chicken, turkey, duck, quail. (Remember white meat contains less sodium than dark meat.) A small serving of liver is permitted once every other week Canned dietetic meats.

Fish — Fresh bass flounder, halibut, cod and salmon, and unsalted canned dietetic tuna or salmon.

Vegetables — Corn cucumber, asparagus, white and sweet potatoes, string beans, cabbage cauliflower, tomatoes, Brussels sprouts, lettuce, broccoli, endive, quash, parsnips, eggplant, lima beans (except frozen), onions, turnip tops, peppers, peas (except frozen), okra, rutabagas, pumpkin and radishes

Fruits — All fruits except those in which sodium benzoate is used as a preservative

Breads and Crackers — Unsalted bread, yeast rolls, hot cakes, waffles, Passover matzohs

Fats — Lard vegetable shortening and oil, unsalted salad dressings and unsalted butter or margarine.

Desserts — Fruit pies with unsalted crusts, fruit tapioca pudding, gelatin using plain gelatin and fruit juice, homemade ice cream, custard and cakes and cookies made with sodium - free baking powder and without salt.
